Make Political Settlement: Javits

Hamilton, N. Y., July 2 (AP)—Citing Pearl Harbor as a costly lesson, Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N. Y.) warned last night that a political settlement with Russia should precede atomic disarmament.

He reminded delegates at the Ninth Annual Colgate Foreign Policy Conference that the disastrous Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor followed by less than 20 years America's last disarmament agreement.

Javits said America "is seemingly falling in with what has been the basic foreign policy position of the Soviet Union. . . ."

"This policy is that disarmament had to precede political settlements."

The senator asserted: "The Russians want and need a disarmament agreement . . . far more than we do. This is the time to make the maximum progress on political issues."

2,000 Men Are Off Their Jobs

Hudson-Catskill Plants Picketed

Albany, N. Y., July 2 (AP)—New strikes today raised to nearly 2,000 the number of workers on strike against cement-producing plants in New York state.

Spokesmen for the State Public Works Department and the Thruway Authority expressed concern that highway construction would be affected.

Workers at five plants in the state joined a spreading, nationwide work stoppage in the cement industry. Three other New York plants had been struck previously.

Seek Wages, Benefits

The workers are members of the United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers Union, which is seeking wage increases and other new benefits.

Union locals that joined the strike today were those at the Universal Atlas plant, with 275 workers; Lone Star plant, 270; Lehigh-Portland, 240, and North American-Portland, 220, all in the Hudson-Catskill area, and a North American plant at Howes Cave, 200 workers.

Plants struck previously were the Alpha-Portland at Cementon, near Catskill, 175 workers; Lehigh-Portland, 300 workers, and Penn-Dixie, 190 workers, both at Buffalo.

Picket lines were set up at most of the struck plants.

No Violence Reported

There were no reports of violence.

The possibility of an agreement that could establish a nationwide pattern for settlement was reported from two points yesterday.

At York, Pa., a union official commented "we're not far apart" in negotiations with the

Despotism In Russia To Change

Greater Soviet Freedom Is View

Washington, July 2 (AP)—Secretary of States Dulles said today a worldwide disarmament system can be worked out even though Communist China is barred from the basic treaty.

Dulles told a news conference a disarmament program could be based on the pre-supposition that Red China would cooperate, and that it would be in Russia's interest to try to assure such cooperation.

Could Protect Selves

If Red China did not, he added, the fact would become known and other nations could act to protect themselves.

On another phase of world affairs, Dulles said the United States government believes that what he called Communist despotism in Russia will eventually give way to a rule of much greater freedom through a process of evolutionary change.

In a speech at San Francisco last Friday, Dulles had said that he considered Communist oppression a "passing phase" in China. He had related this to the problem of United States recognition of Red China, which he rejected as out of the question under present conditions.

No Time Limit

On the same theme, Dulles said he thought changes in Russia toward greater internal freedom would be evolutionary whereas in China there are more elements of a revolutionary nature. He said he would not put a time limit on his prediction toward either country, one year, or five years, or 10 years.

In response to a question, he said he certainly thought the descendents of Soviet Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev would live under a system of freedom.

Khrushchev predicted a few weeks ago that President Eisenhower's grandchildren would live under communism in the United States.

Dulles divorced the internal politicts of Russia and Red China from the recognition issue in discussing the matter today. The test for recognition, he said, is one of respectability in international conduct, not of internal policy.

Measurements of Red Chinese respectability ,Dulles said, include such things as treatment of Americans (six U. S. citizens are still imprisoned there), adherence to international obligations and the tendency of the

3 Unions Strike in New York

Steel Workers at IBM Lab Halt, Job Goes On

A few steel workers are reportedly on strike at the laboratory under construction at Kingston International Business Machines Corporation site, it was learned today.

A spokesman for IBM told The Freeman that the steel workers "off the job" were those engaged in caisson and foundation work but that there had been only "a little slowing up on the job."

Two drills were reported "hard at work" with construction moving forward.

Can't Tell Yet

A reliable source reported that the job had not been affected too much at the present time, but that he didn't know "how serious it will be."

What other construction might be affected could not be immediately ascertained.

The strike reportedly ties in with the strike of three unions against building construction jobs in New York city and suburbs.

The ornamental iron workers union walked out last night in a contract dispute.

The steamfitters and sheetmetal workers struck earlier yesterday.

No Picketing Ordered

What effect the latest strike action would have on over-all activity in the city's giant construction industry was not immediately clear. No picketing was ordered.

An employer spokesman said operation were 95 per cent of normal after the steamfitters and sheetmetal workers struck. He added, however, that the situation might become "progressively worse," if the strikes continue.

Emil Jiracek, president of the Ornamental Iron Workers, said the strike would idle 1,300 of his men in New York city and Westchester, Suffolk and Nassau counties. He said the strike was called when negotiations with employers reach an impasse.

7,300 on Strike

The latest walkout raised the total number of men on strike to 7,300.

Nine other building trade unions representing 61,000 workers accepted a new three-year contract yesterday and reported for work. A half dozen unions are still negotiating with employers.

The unions that agreed to a new contract will receive a package increase of 65 cents per hour plus unspecified fringe benefits over a three year period.

Under the old contract that expired Sunday midnight journeyman union workers in the construction industry average between $3.50 and $4 an hour.

Reject Terms

The steamfitters and sheetmetal workers rejected the terms

Compulsory Car Insurance Seen Cutting Accidents

Atlantic City, N. J., July 2 (AP)—Compulsory automobile insurance has drastically reduced New York state's uninsured accident rate, the state's motor vehicle commissioner reported today.

Commissioner Joseph P. Kelly said that, in the first four months the law was in effect, there had been only seven accidents involving uninsured vehicles, compared with 25,000 in a similar period last year.

Calls It Proof

This, said Kelly in a speech prepared for the eastern conference of the American Assn. of Motor Vehicle Administrators, "seems proof enough that the new law is providing all the major benefits it was counted upon to provide."

Kelly said that from February through May the state revoked

Sprinklers Save Uptown Store From Fire Loss

Operation of a fire sprinkler system in the basement of the new F. W. Woolworth store on Wall street Monday afternoon apparently prevented a serious fire.

The blaze started in the boiler room adjacent to the basement stock room and sales area when the door of the incinerator was either left open or blew open, Fire Chief James Brett said.

Sprinklers Douse Fire

Automatic controls on the boiler room door fused to close the doors and the sprinkler system went into action extinguishing the fire. There was no damage from fire, smoke or water in the sales area of the store or the storage space. The fire was confined to the boiler room.

Smoke apparently found its was up the incinerator shaft instead of spreading in the store.

Spread Prevented

Paper cartons in the incinerator space were wet down when the sprinkler heads opened, preventing the fire from spreading.

The fire occurred about closing time and was reported to the fire department at 5:35 o'clock, Chief Brett said.

Bank Aide Sentenced

Philadelphia, July 2 (AP)—A former assistant bank treasurer here received a six months prison sentence in U. S. District Court yesterday for embezzling $10,000 of the bank's funds to make a loan. Judge Allen K. Grim imposed the sentence on Eugene F. Wallen, 49, Yonkers, N. Y., after Wallen pleaded guilty. Wallen, who formerly lived in suburban Haverford, was discharged from his job at the loan department of the Fidelity Philadelphia Trust Co. on Aug. 26, 1955, for what the bank termed "unexplained absences."

Canyon Bill Out

Washington, July 2 (AP)—The controversial Hells Canyon Dam Bill apparently was killed today by a House Interior Subcommittee Republican members forced a vote and told newsmen after the closed meeting that the bill to authorize a high federal dam in the Hells Canyon reach of the Snake river was killed.

Many Go to Common Grave

Mounting Misery Slows Cleanup of Storm Area

Lake Charles, La., July 2 (AP)—Mass removal of hurricane dead from the ravaged gulf coast of Louisiana went on today. But mounting misery beset cleanup workers and slowed their progress.

The Red Cross reported of Cameron, the little fishing village that was the focal point of last Thursday's great storm:

"It is well-nigh impossible for even the strongest of men to stay in the place, much less work."

A check showed 267 bodies brought out so far from the disaster area in the southwestern tip of the state. The first batch of unidentified dead were consigned late yesterday to mass graves, with a common headstone as their memorial.

Estimate 500 Dead

The latest estimate of total dead was 500. It was made yesterday by Val Peterson, in a telephone report to President Eisenhower. Peterson, former head of the nation's civil defense, was sent here as the President's personal representative on the scene.

Hurricane Audrey, first of the season brought 105-mile-an-hour winds and 20-foot tidal waves to western Louisiana and eastern Texas last week. Although the storm long since had moved on and died out, the havoc of its passage was not yet softened.

Damage to crops, buildings and livestock was incalculable. Some idea of its multimillion dollar total came from oil editor Jeff Davis of New Orleans Times-Picayune. He estimated damage to petroleum properties alone at 20 million dollars.

Big Crane Lifts Coffins

As the seemingly endless cortege of dead moved north from the coast, mass burials got underway late yesterday. A big crane lifted 47 handmade pine coffins into part of a 150-foot trench at a Negro burial ground in the first stage of the somber operation.

"Over a hundred graves," gasped a woman onlooker as she surveyed the expanse of open earth. "Oh Jesus! Christ have mercy on us."

A Roman Catholic priest consigned the white unidentified dead to a separate grave, pronouncing a eulogy in the French patois of the region.

Health authorities called Cameron and neighboring villages uninhabitable for perhaps as long as three weeks.

"Health authorities simply do

Haines Falls Mishap

15 Are Injured as Car Misses Mountain Turn

Haines Falls, N. Y., July 2 (AP)—Fifteen persons were injured yesterday when an automobile missed a curve on a Catskill Mountain highway and plowed into a souvenir store in this summer resort.

None of the car's occupants were injured.

Four persons were hospitalized. They were: Molly Smith, 70, of Haines Falls, owner of the shop; Augusta Brand, 44, of (4 Vermont Court) Brooklyn; Gerda Wilenborg, 18, of (324 Park avenue) Leonia, N. J., and Ferdinand Fiswick, 62, of (145 48th street) Union City, N. J.

All were reported in fair condition at Greene County Memorial Hospital in Catskill, about 20 miles from here.

The others were discharged from the hospital after treatment.

State police said the car was driven by Mrs. Juana Elqueta, 46, of Montevideo, Uruguay, who was visiting her son in this country.

Riding in the car with her were her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Inez Elqueta, 21, of Hunter, and and granddaughter, Gianina, 11 months. None of the Elquetas was injured.

Troopers said Mrs. Elqueta was driving down Rip's mountain on Route 23A when the car failed to make a left curve. It plowed more than 50 feet through the shop before it was stopped by a chimney. It was only three feet from a sharp drop of several hundred feet.

State police said no charge would be brought against Mrs. Elqueta.

The road, known as the Palenville Mountain Highway, has many sharp curves and is considered tricky.

Wreckage on Mountain Is Believed Honeymoon Plane

Manchester, Vt., July 2 (AP)—A radio report from an army helicopter intercepted at Claremont, N. H., said today that wreckage of a light plane had been found on Stratton mountain between Bondville and Jamaica. It was believed to be the craft containing a New York state bride and groom returning from their honeymoon.

Mark Larue of Hudson Falls, N. Y., and his wife of 11 days, vanished Sunday night in a flight from Worcester, Mass., to Glens Falls, N. Y. They had been honeymooning at Nantucket island off Massachusetts. They were last heard from by radio over Brattleboro, Vt., where they reported they were bucking headwinds.

Brattleboro is about 40 miles from here.

The search was concentrated in the Bondville area after a farmer reported seeing plane wreckage through binoculars.

George Green of Bondville told CAP Squadron Commander Lynn Wood Jr. he spotted what looked like the wreckage of a red plane. Larue's plane was red.

State police sent a ground team from the Shaftsbury barracks. A light CAP plane flew to the isolated area and an army helicopter was summoned to aid in the search.

CAP officials rushed radio equipment to the Green farm.

Fifty volunteers organized by the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Glens Falls, where the bride formerly lived, headed for the mountain area.

State police at Shaftsbury later said they had received a report the wreckage was sighted and the ground force already in the area was joined by CAP men for a push through the rugged forest. There were no roads and vehicles could not be used.

After word of the discovery of wreckage the CAP withdrew its air search.

There were reports a small fire had been seen on the mountain but CAP headquarters at Rutland said nothing had been found and that campers in the area might have been responsible for the fire.

Hail Program and Sprays To Be Discussed July 9th

A twilight meeting will be held next Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock at the Huntington Associates cooler on Route 9W north of Highland at which time a report will be made by Thomas Henderson, meteorologist for the Weather Modification Service, who will discuss the hail suppression service, and there will also be a discussion on spray technique.

At this season of the year with the fruit harvesting, it is important that proper spray materials and techniques be used to prevent an excess of spray residue on fruit at harvest time. This matter will be discussed, insect and disease control problems will be explained and general information to fruit growers will be given.

Henderson will discuss the hail suppression program, reporting on the success of the plan thus far. He will also explain how it is possible for some "break through" of hail in some areas. Henderson is in charge of the program at the radar station on Turkey Hill in Dutchess county.

The discussion and demonstration will be at the Huntington cooler, through the courtesy of Walter Herring, manager.

Sheriff Checking Sparkler Sales, Danger Is Stressed

The use of any kind of fireworks without a permit is unlawful in New York State, the Ulster county sheriff's office cautioned this morning.

County Investigator Arthur H. Brown told The Freeman that he is investigating reports that sparklers are being offered for sale at certain unspecified stores in the area.

The danger in the use of sparklers lies in fire and burns—principally burns, he said.

The use of sparklers is included in a list of fireworks under Sect. 1894a of the State Penal Law.

The definition of "fireworks" includes any blank cartridges, blank cartridge pistol, or toy cannon in which explosives are used, firecrackers, torpedoes, skyrockets, Roman candles, bombs, sparklers or other combustible or explosive of like construction.

The law forbids the sale, distribution and possession of such fireworks.

Any person who shall offer or expose for sale, possess or sell, furnish, use, explode any fireworks is guilty of a misdemeanor under the law, Mr. Brown explained.

UPA Egg Price

The price of Grade A Large Eggs, advertised by UPA Markets in last night's paper should have been 55 cents per dozen. The price was omitted.

Wood Paneling

Wood paneling is being used more frequently today than at any time since the era of Christopher Wren, the magaxine "Architectural Record" recently commented. Sir Christopher designed St. Paul's Cathedral and many other churches and famous buildings after the great London fire in 1666.

SWEATING IT OUT — Weather predictor F. M. Ties, of Brodhead, Wis., wipes his forehead as the temperature creeps higher and higher, dimming hopes of making his winter snowfall prediction come true. The weather prophet, using a formula he learned from an Indian, forecast 40 snows, one more than the total which actually occurred. Ties, who claims to have missed only twice in 50 years, says the system can be used anywhere. Formula: Total snowfalls is equal to the total of the month and the age of the moon at the time of the first snow.

Briscoe Is Out As Dublin Mayor

Dublin, July 2 (AP)—The luck of the draw has cost Dublin's only Jewish Lord Mayor in history, Robert Briscoe, the job it won for him a year ago.

Members of the Dublin City Council balloted last night to fill the top municipal post for the coming year.

Briscoe and independent Alderman James Carroll tied with 21 votes each. Following tradition, their names went into a hat—and Carroll's came out first.

Briscoe, who captured Americans' hearts during a seven-week tour of the United States this year, took his defeat in stride.

"I have had a very hectic year," he told the council. "Though I said last year, I would only accept one term, I was prevailed upon to go forward again. I wish the new lord mayor every success in his office.

At the new mayor's request, the council gave Briscoe a rising vote of thanks for the good will he won for Ireland during his American tour.

Briscoe, director of several textile firms, continues as a member of the council.

"From the Buffalo to the Book" will be the title of a religious panorama presented by the Poolaw family of Kiowa-Comanche American Indians of Walters, Oklahoma, at the Olive-Shokan Baptist Church, West Shokan, Saturday, at 7:30 p. m., and at the Phoenicia Baptist Church, Sunday, at 8 p. m.

This group of Christian Indians will exhibit authentic Indian costumes, perform tribal dances and ceremonies, demonstrate children's games and songs, show a teepee and camp scene, sing hymns in native tongue, and recite the Shepherd Psalm in sign language.

Mose Poolaw, the father and husband, became a Christian at 42 years of age after having lived in sin, and has a stirring testimony for Christ.

All are welcome to attend these services.

Graham Resumes After 1-Day Halt

New York, July 2 (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham will be back in Madison Cquare Garden tonight after a one-night rest from his New York crusade.

Last night's break in the Garden meetings was only the second since the crusade started May 15. The first came when a special charity event was held in the arena.

Omission of Monday night meetings was announced as a means of giving both Graham and his staff some rest.

AMERICAN MENU

For Holiday Treat Try Blueberry Chiffon Pie

SOMETHING for a memorable holiday dessert is this delicious blueberry chiffon pie, served plain or with whipped cream.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX,
NEA Food and Markets Editor

For the Fourth of July, or any other special holiday, here's a new blueberry pie that is a celebration itself.

Blueberry Chiffon Pie

One package lemon chiffon pie filling mix, ½ cup boiling water, ½ cup very cold water, 1/3 cup sugar, 2 cups fresh whole blueberries, 2 cooled baked 8-inch pie shells.

Place mix in a large, deep mixing bowl. Add boiling water and mix thoroughly. Add very cold water and beat vigorously with rotary beater or at highest speed of electric mixer until mixture is very foamy—takes about 1 minute. Add sugar and beat until filling stands in peaks—takes 1 to 3 minutes. Fold in blueberries. Pour into pie shells. Chill until set, about 2 hours. Serve plain or with whipped cream.

Note: Store leftover pie in refrigerator, covered with inverted pie pan.

A dessert like that calls for something good like a broiled steak first. Choose a steak one to two inches thick. Slash the fat at the edges to prevent curling. Broil until the top side is well browned, season, then turn and brown the other side. When turning, stick fork into fat, not lean.

For 1-inch-thick steak: rare, about 10 minutes; medium, about 15 minutes; well done, 20-25 minutes.

For a 1½-inch-thick steak: rare, about 15 minutes; medium about 20 minutes; well done, about 25-30 minutes.

For a 2-inch-thick steak: rare, about 25 minutes; medium, about 35 minutes; well done, 45-50 minutes.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Broiled steak, fried onion rings, French fried potatoes, sliced beefsteak tomatoes, French bread, butter or margarine, blueberry chiffon pie, iced coffee, tea, milk.

Try adding a bay leaf to your chicken fricassee along with the usual onion and celery.

WASTE NOT, WANT NOT

The Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report has adopted as its slogan that excellent admonition, "Waste not, want not," This might well be used as a battle cry by all Americans who feel that sensible economy is as good for government as it is for private individuals.

The most ardent champion of government economy cannot deny that the irreducible costs of government in a society such as ours have become tremendous. Any effort to reduce these costs by cutting out certain government services encounters strong popular resistance. The alternative, if we want less money spent on government, is to cut out waste and needless spending in the present framework of activities.

Congress has before it a number of bills to put into effect recommendations made along this line by the bipartisan Hoover Commission. One bill, for example, would set up a civilian-managed agency to unify common-use, non military supply and services activities in the Defense Department. Another would extend the important Reorganization Act of 1949. Others would eliminate the Postal Savings System and curtail unnecessary government competition with private business. There are several more bills in the hopper.

Some of the proposals are controversial; some of them come pretty clearly under the heading of plain common sense. On the whole, the Hoover Commission's recommendations would tend to implement the "Waste not, want not" philosophy in operations of the federal governmment. Congress would do well to devote more of its time to a thorough consideration of these measures.

A man suspected of drunkenness was arrested when he told the police he was waiting in a tavern for a 14-foot ladder so that he could pick strawberries. He was much too high to pick berries, the officers reasoned.

CORPORATE WIVES

Mr. American sometimes wonders what it would be like to be an executive of a large corporation, with a fat salary and an expense account to match. There is one aspect of this which he may not guess, the phenomenon known as the "corporate wife."

Certain large companies believe that not only should the young man rising toward promotion be molded after one pattern, but likewise his wife. Some companies not only inspect and appraise wives before deciding whether to hire their husbands, but have been known to tell an engaged bachelor that his fiancee would never do as the wife of a Blank Company executive.

At a forum of the National Small Businessmen's Association John A. Patten, a Chicago management engineer, polled the wives present. He found that they not only knew of the practice, but were angered by it. Sylvia Porter, the columnist, wonders if the creation of an effective business team is not hard enough already without intruding social considerations also. It is a point well taken.

Government meteorologists have arranged to give farmers better weather forecasting service. Now the farmers would like the government to take the next step and give them better weather.

DECLINE OF LITERATURE

In the months and years ahead, we can expect an increasing number of movie scripts published as books. Also, a number of "novels" will be merely re-writes of movie scripts or, possibly, of television scripts. It's not literature, and most of these books will not be much worth reading, but does anybody care?

Creative writing used to be an honorable profession, an art. This now seems to be a railroad idea, if not a horse-and-buggy idea. The trend suggests that what once was creative writing will within a few decades become merely a Three-Eye League form of entertainment. That would be a sad day for American culture, which has not yet come to full flower.

Reports from Moscow indicate that the Russians are making artificial fur. This is a change from the other reports which indicate that when Khrushchev gets a drink under his belt the real fur starts to fly.

THE SENATE

Senator Richard B. Russell said in the Senate:

"The legislative branch of the Government has taken quite a beating in the past 25 years. In my opinion it no longer occupies the place in the esteem of the people of the Nation that it once occupied. We have gradually been pushed into a somewhat subordinate position. I do not know that we were altogether pushed. There were times when there were such overpowering personalities in the executive branch that the legislative branch might have been led, or might have gone willingly into a subordinate position. But the idea has never appealed to me. I believe that the legislative branch is as important as either of the other two branches. In some respects it is even more important."

Much of our troubles arise from the tendency of Senators and Representatives to give up their independence and to accept the umbrageous position of being creatures of the White House, whether that particular building is presided over by Franklin D. Roosevelt or Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The Congress should be, according to the Constitution, an independent brance of government, not an auxiliary of the executive. Congress usually has developed its own leadership and often its leadership has been intellectually superior and more representative than the Presidency. Who in the White House was superior to Daniel Webster or Henry Clay, while they lived? It is when Congress became so fearful of the power of the Presidency that the people need to fear the power of the Presidency.

There is a potent element in the country that believes to the contrary. Its attitude is that in the face of the swift-moving dictatorship in Soviet Russia, we lose time and motion which gives that power every advantage. If the logic of these imitators of the Soviet system is correct, then why should we not altogether give up representative government and accept the dictatorship of a Presidium? No! They would say that that is too revolutionary. They would like to retain representative government but they would reduce the representatives to mere clerks of registry, requiring them to accept the mandates of an elite of experts who surround the President.

Maybe it is unfortunate that we adopted our constitutional system and did not accept the British parliamentary system. But we are we and they are they and as it looks in 1957, we have not done too badly although I read an article in "Foreign Affairs" by a female reporter of the "Christian Science Monitor," called Miriam Chapin, who can only extol Canada by belittling the United States and does it with vulgar inaccuracies. Lest I fall into the same spiteful error, I shall not belittle Parliament to extol Congress, recognizinig, as one must, that each performs its function in its own way.

Hugh Gaitskell, leader of the British Labor Party, accustomed to Parliament but not to Congress, once wrote:

". . . The members of Congress—especially the Senate—make declarations which are treated as having great weight, though they seem often to be made without even the information, much of it secret, upon which foreign policy has to be based. No wonder American policy sometimes seems to us in Europe a rather incoherent affair."

What Gaitskell does not realize is that Americans resent secrecy about their proper business. We feel that this country belongs to us, the people who live in it and work in it and pay taxes for it. We do not believe in a king because we are sovereign, the whole lot of us, and we somehow do not believe that because some fellow happens to be elected to public office that makes him wiser or more patriotic than his brother. If the British government insists upon keeping its affairs secret from its own people, the American people insist upon the right to know.

The amazing thing about many of these great secrets of state is that when one reads them 10 or 20 years later, they often seem so futile and silly. A century later, they become sheer nonsense. But what is more distressing is that the objective enemy of the moment always somehow has the secrets. Espionage is so much more effective than counter-espionage.

Klaus Fuchs, Burgess and Maclean, the Rosenbergs and all the other little spies should have taught us something, if not everything, about the futility of secrecy.

Vigilance Must Be Kept In War Against Smallpox

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

A few weeks ago I noticed a small headline in a newspaper which read: "537 Indians Die of Smallpox."

Under the headline was a single sentence from the Indian dispatch which said: "Smallpox kills 537 Indians in week ending March 23."

Smallpox for centuries was one of the great killers of mankind and, as in India and other places today, it hangs over our heads ready to kill or maim if vigilance is relaxed.

Many will remember, for example, how about 10 years ago a traveler from Mexico brought the disease to New York. Six million or more were vaccinated inside of a month and the potential epidemic was prevented.

THE FACT THAT smallpox is so well under control most of the time in western countries is the result of a discovery made less than 200 years ago.

Here is what happened:

A country practitioner of medicine in England named Edward Jenner noticed that milkmaids in his community did not get smallpox, even when almost everyone else caught the disease. He found that most milkmaids had scars on their hands which had come from a disease present on the udders of cows, called cowpox. Naturally, Jenner wondered whether this had anything to do with their resistance to smallpox.

THEN JENNER made a daring and risky experiment. He took pus from the hand of a cowpox-infected milkmaid and scratched it onto the skin of a boy, James Phipps. In a few days James developed a sort of infected blister which soon healed.

Six weeks later Jenner took what must have seemed a horrible chance. He inoculated the boy with pus taken from a patient with smallpox. Nothing happened. The first vaccination had "taken" and James Phipps was immune to the dread smallpox.

IN THIS WAY vaccination was discovered. It is impossible to guess how many of us are alive today—and with our skins clear of disfiguring scars—because of the courageous experiment in 1796. But today, if too many of us fail to be vaccinated, smallpox can again appear with all its terror, as it does in India and elsewhere from time to time.

"We Proved One Thing---We Can't Go That Way"

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — What is happening to Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey these days is highly reminiscent of what happened to the late Andrew Mellon, secretary of the treasury from 1921 to 1932 under Harding, Coolidge and Hoover.

Democratic strategy in attacking the men responsible for fiscal policies in the Republican administrations is much the same in both cases. Both Humphrey and Mellon stood for a businessman's type of government, with lowered taxes, greater economy and a balanced budget in periods of high prosperity.

Both were the richest men in government—though Humphrey's 12-million-dollar holdings make him a small businessman, a piker, when compared to Mellon's 300 million.

Curiously enough, the attaeks in both cases, 25 years apart, were led by other millionaires.

IT WAS THE late Sen. James Couzens of Michigan who led the assault on Mellon's fiscal policies after the 1929 crash. Before that, it was Texas Jack Garner who had blocked Mellon's effort to put a 25 per cent ceiling on income taxes.

In the Humphrey case, it is Sen. Harry F. Byrd, Virginia apple millionaire, who is chairman of the current Senate Finance Committee probe of fiscal policies. One of his principal allies is Sen. Bob Kerr of Oklahoma, millionaire oil man, who boasts openly that this is a political probe.

Actually, there is no parallel between the way Humphrey has conducted fiscal policy and the way Mellon ran it.

In the 11 years that Mellon headed the treasury, tax rebates of over 3.5 billion dollars were given to American business firms. Mellon's own companies got 1.3 billion.

In apparent retaliation for exposing a whole chain of events like these, the government filed a suit against Senator Couzens to recover 11 million dollars from his sale of Ford Company stock for over 40 millions. Couzens won this suit.

IT WAS A CHARGE by Rep. Wright Patman (D.-Tex.) thhat finally forced Mr. Mellon out of Washington. The charge was that Mellon had used his official position to influence Colombian government policies. Shortly thereafter one of the Mellon oil companies bought the rich Barco field for 115 million dollars.

Mellon denied the charge and said he had no knowledge of the deal. But with the depression creating so much chaos in Washington, the political climate became too unhealthy for the 77-year-old Mellon. President Hoover named him ambassador to London in February, 1932, and named Ogden L. Mills as his successor for the remainder of the year. Patman's probe was then dropped.

The late Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania, a Theodore Roosevelt Progressive, was to declare later that the Mellon fiscal policies brought on the depression.

CERTAINLY IT was the aftermath of all these disclosures which contributed to President Hoover's defeat in 1932.

It is in the hope of developing such political ammunition for 1958 and 1960 that the Democrats now probe Humphrey fiscal policies. There is no suspicion of any personal wrongdoing in Humphrey's stewardship at treasury. He is leaving this position voluntarily in the near future with no sign of a depression to be charged with.

But the theme of what's up may have been indicated in a letter to the newspapers by Prof. Seymour Harris, chairman of Harvard's economics department:

He accuses the secretary of having failed to achieve any of his fundamental objectives since federal expenses are now higher, interest rates are up and inflation highest in peacetime.

Harris concludes that, "Not the 72-billion-dollar budget, but modern economics such as shown the lack of comprehension of by Secretary Humphrey might bring on a hair-curling depression."

'Life Tenure' Not Assured Supreme Court Justices

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 1—What can be done about a Supreme Court that ignores the rights of Congress and the Executive and, in effect, nullifies various provisions of the Constitution itself?

This question has arisen lately because of the extreme nature of some of the decisions of the high court which substantially impair the investigative operations of Congress and the prosecution of criminals and traitors.

It may come as a surprise to many people to find that justices of the Supreme Court of the United States are not assured of life tenure and that nowhere in the Constitution are the words "life tenure" used. Actually the Constitution simply says that justices of the high court shall hold office only "during good behavior."

The Constitution provides for "impeachment" of judges, but solely for "treason, bribery and other high crimes and misdemeanors." In the event however, that the justices do not commit any such crimes but go beyond their proper judicial functions and actually destroy the right of the nation to protect itself against subversion, can anything be done about it?

Strangely enough, in the entire history of the Supreme Court there never has been a case involving a definition of the words "good behavior" in connection with any Supreme Court justice. Nor has there been any case in which the power of removal of high court justices has been ruled upon.

Refers to 1926 Case

This correspondent the other day recalled the stir made by the famous Myers case in October, 1926, and took occasion to reread the decision because in its 50,000 words is given the most exhaustive discussion of the removal powers of Congress ever presented by the Supreme Court.

But this case and the decision in the Humphrey case in 1935—repudiating the President's removal of a member of the Federal Trade Commission — are confined largely to the question of how far Congress may by law restrict the removal powers of the Chief Executive with respect to executive and quasi-judicial posts. It is clear that the President can remove an official for the causes specified by Congress when fixing the term of office and also for other causes not mentioned by Congress when the post is purely administrative. The decisions are vague and contradictory where no term is specified by Congress—as, for instance, the case of lower court judges.

Opinion Quoted

It is plain from a reading of the Myers case that most of the discussions in the early days of the republic and since then have related primarily to whether the Senate has to be consulted about removals. It seems to be an established fact that for many years the Congress asserted its right to participate in the removal power. Describing this early history, the Supreme Court in an opinion in 1839 said:

"No one denied the power of the President and the Senate, jointly to remove, where the tenure of the office was not fixed by the Constitution, which was a full recognition of the principle that the power of removal was incident to the power of appointment."

Ofetn quoted in these decisions and rebuted is an argument made in "The Federalist" by Alexander Hamilton who wrote: "It has been mentioned as one of the advantages to be expected from the co-operation of the Senate in the business of appointments, that it would contribute to the stability of the Administration. The consent of that body would be necessary to displace as well as to appoint."

It seems logical to conclude—as Justice Brandeis, Holmes and McReynolds plainly asserted in their dissent in the Myers case—that the power resides in Congress to control removals by stipulating in a law the basis for such removal.

Congress Power

Hence, if Congress chose to define "good behavior" and provided by law that the President and the Senate could jointly decide on the removal of any or all of the Supreme Court justices and then other justices were nominated and confirmed to replace them, there is enough legislative power vested in Congress to make the action stick despite any attempt by the courts to interfere. For Congress also has the right, specifically given by the Constitution, to determine the "appellate jurisdiction" of the Supreme Court. Through a law of this kind, Congress could prevent any review of its own statutory definition of the phrase "good behavior."

So justices of the Supreme Court can be ousted whenever Congress and a President jointly decide to take that action to protect the country from erratic or irresponsible decisions by a majority of the high court. "Life tenure" is a custom—not an absolute assurance of tenure for supreme court justices. And custom" has been overturned in decisions in more instances in the twenty years since the so-called "liberals" took over the Supreme Court than in all the 148 prior years of judicial history.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

New York, July 2 (AP)—Vacations and a lull in industrial activity are combining to make July the low point of the year so far for important industries.

Some steel mills will close down for the Fourth of July holiday, cutting the industry's total output for the week. But slow ordering seems likely to cut it further during this month.

A few manufacturers got in their orders in time to beat yesterday's controversial price hike of $6 a ton on average. And these presumably won't be ordering much until they use up their inventories. But such ordering was much smaller than the steel companies had expected.

The auto companies, among steel's prime customers, have been notably slow in ordering metal. And some auto plants have shut down or cutback production. Their annual slow period while they change over to new models will come later.

Mass Vacation Idea Spreads

Many metal working plants using steel will take one to three weeks vacation this month, and some others next month. This mass vacation idea has spread rapidly in recent years.

Fabricators of copper, zinc and lead also will be closing down for vacation periods. But their ordering of these metals has been slow for some time anyway.

As a result, many zinc and lead mines have shut down. And copper mines have cut their work weeks to keep from piling up more slow selling metal. All three metals have dropped in price in recent weeks. Domestic producers of copper started the month selling at 29½ cents a pound and fearfully eyeing the London metal market where copper skidded to the equivalent of 27⅛ cents.

Cutbacks in steel output, along with softening of the export demand, leads soft coal mines to lower their estimates of the year's production. The National Coal Assn., which once predicted 1957 would see 522 million tons mined, compared with 506 million in 1956, has trimmed this estimate to 506 million tons.

Coal miners will also be taking their annual vacation, cutting the month's total output to a minimum.

Mills Taking Off

The traditional summer holiday starts this week in the textile industry. Many a mill owner will welcome the chance to cut back stocks and let consumer demand catch up with production.

For many mill workers the vacation will last only a week. But some synthetic fabric plants and cotton mills will take a two-week shutdown. The American Cotton Manufacturers Institute estimates that three-fourths of the cotton mills in he south will be closed this week, with most of them reopening next week.

More will take a two-weeks rest in the north. The Northern Federation of Textiles says about 40 per cent of the synthetic fabric mills will close for two weeks. And the Northern Textile Assn. says an equal percentage of New England cotton mills will take a two-week respite.

Many textile men, however, are saying they look for a pick-up in their business by next month at the latest.

And the National Shoe Institute boasts that for the first time the American shoe industry seems set to pass the 600 million pair mark this year. Surely, all God's chillun, U. S. branch, got shoes.

Diamond Loser Poses Problem

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

John Gerber of Houston, one of the country's finest players and inventor of the Gerber slam convention, will be back in action at the San Antonio regionals after a two-year layoff.

Today's hand shows Mr. Gerber and his convention in action.

He sat South and his four-club bid asked for aces. North's four no-trump response showed three aces and Gerber's five-club bid called for kings. When North replied five diamonds to show no kings, Gerber bid six spades only.

He won the opening heart lead in his own hand and decided to play as safely as possible for the slam. Hence, his first play was to lead the queen of spades to encourage a cover from West if he held the king. When West followed low Johnny went right up with dummy's ace. He did not really care about the spade finesse. He was certain of his contract provided the spades broke two-one.

East followed, whereupon Mr. Gerber cashed his second high heart and led a low spade.

East was in the lead and also in a helpless position. A heart lead would allow declarer to discard a diamond and ruff in dummy, a diamond lead would give him a free finesse and take care of the diamond loser, and a club lead would solve the club problem for Mr. Gerber and allow an eventual discard of his potential losing diamond on dummy's long club.

Of course Johnny could have taken the spade finesse and guessed one of the minor suit queens later but this play was just about a sure thing.

Sunken Ammo Blows Up, 32 Okinawans Killed

Naha, Okinawa, July 2 (AP)—A sunken World War 2 ammunition ship blew up seven miles off Okinawa last night, killing at least 32 Okinawans carrying on a prohibited salvage operation.

It was believed ammunition aboard the wreck had been touched off by an underwater cutting torch.

Eyewitnesses on shore said between 32 and 40 men were diving to the ship 150 feet down when the blast occurred.

The witnesses were unable to say exactly how many were under water or in five small boats supporting the divers. All of the boats were blown to bits. One official pointed out that operations of this nature are illegal, and survivors of mishaps usually make themselves scarce.

Two other ammunition explosions during the weekend killed an unknown number of persons and injured at least two.

23rd Psalm Helped

Woman Rescued After Six Days In Blazing Heat

Alpine, Tex., July 2 (AP) — A sturdy blonde woman who said she used positive thinking and the 23rd Psalm to keep her courage up was found yesterday after six days of struggling for survival in the burning jumble of rock and sand south of here.

"I got so hot I was frothing at the mouth," Mrs. Wilma White, 46, of Houston, Tex., said of part of her struggle through the Big Bend National Park of west Texas. "I kept repeating the 23rd Psalm: 'Yea though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death . . .'

Made Her Cooler

"It made me feel a little cooler," she said.

She was spotted yesterday from the air and reached by horsemen at the tiny cave and trickling spring which sheltered her from temperatures as high as 115 degrees.

Her husband had died in what appeared to be a vain attempt to find her after she set out for help when their station wagon bogged in the sand near the Rio Grande. They had gone into the rugged Punta de la Sierra range last Tuesday to gather cacti for their garden.

The tall, sturdy, blue-eyed blonde was badly sunburned and scratched, but not in serious condition.

"I always felt someone would find me," she told relatives.

"You know, I am a believer of positive thinking...At a time like this you cannot lose your head and get frantic. When I saw I was in a fix I figuerd the best thing to do was stay with the water, and that's what I did."

Lefkowitz Opposes Attempt to Tell Court

New York, July 2 (AP)—New York's attorney general, Louis J. Leftkowitz, says he is opposed to any attempt by state attorneys general "to tell the Supreme Court how it should be guided in the future in making decisions."

He said yeserday he had voted to strike criticisms of the high court from two resolutions by the National Assn. of Attorneys General last week at Sun Valley, Idaho.

"I made it plain," Lefkowitz said, "that I have full faith in the integrity of the Supreme Court. While I maintained that lawyers and citizens generally have a right to state their opinion and disagree, I am opposed to an attack on the integrity of the court itself."

The criticisms dealt with recent Supreme Court decisions concerning federal and state internal security control.

Lefkowitz said he had voted to delete an expression of alarm "over the increasing tendency of the Supreme Court" to rule that federal law supersedes state law dealing with such matters. The motion to strike out this language carried.

Southwest Still Under Heat Wave

(By The Associated Press)

The season's longest heat wave in the southwest showed no indication of a general break today after another day of 100-plus temperatures.

The intense heat spread into northern and eastern areas yesterday and set temperatures into the mid 90s as far north at Montana and northern Nebraska.

The hot spots were in most of Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, and southeastern California. Top mark was 115 degrees at Presidio, Tex. The 108 reading at Roswell, N. M., was an all time record for July.

Temperatures were near 100 degrees during the night in some sections of the southwest desert region. It was 99 at Blythe, Calif., and 97 at Gila Bend, Ariz., and Needles, Calif. The weather bureau said no immediate relief was in sight. Yesterday's high at Salt Lake City was 99, with similar marks reported in parts of eastern Colorado and sections of Oklahoma.

Fairly cool summer weather was reported in the northeast part of the country and the northern Great Lakes region but generally mild temperatures prevailed in other areas. Temperatures were mostly in the 50s in the cool belt.

The Mature Parent

Mom's Double-Talk Breeds Her Child's Fear of School

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

When I was a child, visiting, relatives brought along a photograph of her younger sister. When I'd admire it she'd say, "Oh, yes, isn't Gwen lovely? She used to pinch me black and blue when we were children. Her self-will is poor Mamma's greatest trial. But everyone adores her. You'd just love her."

Naturally I loathed the unknown Gwen just as her sister's jealous double-talk had intended me to.

Now psychiatrist Dr. Leon Eisenberg warns that just such double-talk by mothers helps to breed children's fear of school.

He recently told the American Psychiatric Association's annual meeting: The child is given conflicting cues. He's told he must go to school and at the same time shown that he dare not go."

I quote his statement far in advance of next September's first day of school in order to give mothers plenty of time over the summer to consider it.

We express our secret resentment at having to send Johnny to school by this kind of talk:

"If you're a good boy. you won't get in trouble. If other kids are mean to you, tell Mommy about it. If you can't find the washroom, try and wait till you get home. If I don't send you to school, the policeman would come here and make me. Maybe you'll get a nice teacher so it won't be so hard..."

Like my relative's description of her sister, each of these remarks, pretending to be kind, actually seek to make Johnny's still unknown experience of school loom ahead of him as a terrifying ordeal by isolation, hurt and impossible demand.

If we talk like this, it means the thought of having to send Johnny to school fills us with an unaccountable sense of helplessness and depression. And we certainly do not want this pain. We can ask our clergyman, the school principal, our local family guidance agency to help us with it.

In the meantime, lets not be frightened by the idea that our love for Johnny may be less than perfect. No parent's love is perfect. Nevertheless, all of us, reguardless of its flaws, want to make it the best love we can.

Let's credit ourselves with this desire—and for the next few weeks hold on to some simple words I heard spoken the other night by Mrs. Erich Fromm, wife of the noted psychoanalyist. Said she: "Listen to your tongue—and see if it truly reports what your heart is saying."

What it means to you
The Advertiser

How it protects you
The Reader

Classified Advertising, as it is known today, is the oldest form of advertising. Its origin being traced back more than 250 years to the early days of newspapers. A time when all other accepted forms of advertising had not yet been devised by man.

Classified Advertising is the only advertising media of the great masses of the public. The place where the people, who make up any community, can for a low cost, make known to thousands their wishes, desires, wants and needs. Because Classified Advertising is the media where people place their OWN advertising . . . it is the media they just naturally turn to when they have a want or need.

Business men, having recognized that Classified Advertising is one of the most powerful of all "Public Announcement" media, also utilize the people's advertising market place to offer for sale their merchandise and services in an effort to assist you, the reader and user of classified, in solving your wants, needs and desires.

Because classified advertising is your advertising media, The Kingston Daily Freeman has established many rules of ethics in advertising governing the placing of advertising. These rules are for the protection of the reader and advertiser alike. They assure the reader of a clean cut, clear and honest presentation of the items advertised. These same rules protect the business concerns against unfair, misleading advertising of the unscrupulous . . . thereby maintaining readership at the highest possible level.

Readership of advertising . . . means results for all. The Kingston Daily Freeman Classified is one of the best edited, best checked advertising media in America. The Kingston Daily Freeman Classified is one of world leaders in maintaining clean advertising columns.

You, as a reader; and you, as an advertiser, are invited to assist us in maintaining advertising results at the highest possible level by discussing any and all advertising that has not given you an accurate picture of the product or service advertised.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

In the Kingston Freeman and Journal of Friday, May 9, 1924 I ran across an item telling about 55 new members added to the Cornell Hose Co. They are all of the Rondout section of course.

Some of them mentioned are: August Albright, Henry Wolff, Walter Holsopple, Warren Stokes, Albert Salzmann, Frank Jenks, William Whitney, John Radenburg, Otto Short, Andrew Short, George Reis, George Pardee, James Wood, Raymond Rundie, James Costello, Meyer Firestone, Arthur Golneck, Clifford Finley, Martin Dunn, Arthur Ahl, Lester and Herbert Wolff, Morris Stone, Everett Walton, Adam Salzman, Lester Vogel, Thomas Walczak, Nicholas Radenburg, Thomas Daley, Henry and Thomas Kiernan, Henry Lehner, Walter Pfrommer, Harry Brandt, Henry W. Munch, Fred Ahlers, John Golneck, Thomas Mitchell, Ray Doyle, Carl Weber, Phillip Feeney, John Dauner, William Thomas, Maurice Rice, Frank Koenig, Harry Lang, Daniel Barnhart, Andrew Worf, William Nawe, Henry McSherry, Lester Rice, Nicholas Reis, Carl Landers, Fred Keener and Morris Markson."

In the same paper the following item appeared:: "In addition to the usual Day Line service from New York to Catskill this summer a special Catskill boat will run from New York to Catskill on Saturday afternoons between July 1st and September 14th, inclusive. The Boat will leave Desbrosses street, New York at 1:35 p. m., West 42nd street at 2, West 129th street at 2:30 and arrive at Catskill at 8 p. m. It will make stops at Newburgh at 5 p. m., Poughkeepsie at 5:50 and Kingston Point at 6:45. It will be called the "Catskill Special."

Day Line season open on May 17th and will operate on daylight saving time, so the item explained on May 9, 1924 in our local press.

Today if a group wants to go together to New York to Coney Island or to the New York ball games they go by bus. In those days it was a trip on the Hudson, where you could walk around when you pleased, danced to music, or just set in the lounge, listen, enjoy the cool breezes of the Hudson. I wonder how many folks still remember those Day Line trips? What in comfort, convenience in transportation can they be compared today.

I remember we used to sit in various places on the boat. We would get a permanent place where we put our things. Then we would roam around and see who else we knew on the boat. We would visit with each other. Then we would take a walk with our friends on the boat. There were always several decks. In our youth, it was such fun to run up and down those staircases. The wind was of course strong in the front of the boat, so on a warm day we would go there. We would go sometimes right to the top deck, there one would see some folks trying to get a sun and wind burn. That did not interest us.

In case you wonder just how much room there was on those boats to walk around. There was the Mary Powell which was 260 feet long. The Hendrick Hudson was 390 feet long. The Robert Fulton was listed as 346 feet long. When we were young we usually started walking or running the length of the boat with our friends just as soon as we were settled so no doubt we did several miles before we were through. That together with the fresh air gave us a wonderful appetite.

Local Red Cross Confident Of Help for Storm Victims

An expression of confidence that local citizens will contribute generously to aid fellow Americans stricken during Hurricane Audrey was sounded today by James A. Hanstein, chairman of the local Red Cross chapter, who made public the personal appeal of President Eisenhower.

Mr. Hanstein added that donations may be sent to the Ulster County Chapter, American Red Cross, 308 Clinton avenue. He said that the ARC is the only major private agency equipped to handle disaster relief.

The following telegram was sent to the local headquarters from the American Red Cross, Eastern Area office, Alexandria, Va.:

"The following was issued by President Eisenhower today—The White House, June 29, 1957, statement by the President of the U. S.:

President's Appeal

"On behalf of the people of the United States I extend deepest sympathy to the people in the devastated areas of Louisiana and the other areas affected by Hurricane Audrey. Everything possible is being done to alleviate their suffering.

"Federal, State and Local Governments are doing everything in their power to assist the victims of the disaster. The governmental agencies are conducting the work of survey and rescue and of rehabilitation. But of necessity this will be limited primarily to emergency measures and the rebuilding of vital local functions—highways, public buildings and the restoration of utilities.

In the great task of rehabilitation—caring for evacuated persons—sheltering and feeding them—ministering to the sick and the hurt—the American Red Cross must and eventually will play a major role. The Red Cross whose financial resources are already severely taxed by this and other disaster operations currently underway will need the help of every citizen of our land.

Every one of us can participate in helping to relieve the suffering of his fellow Americans by contributing directly to local Red Cross chapters. I am confident that the American people will respond generously to help the Red Cross carry out its great humanitarian work."

Their names were placed on slips of paper and put into a hat. Carroll's name was drawn, after the city council had voted a draw. Briscoe won the post in the same way a year ago. (AP photo)

Weekly Food Review

(By The Associated Press)

Firecrackers have been replaced by municipally-sponsored displays of fireworks in many American communities, but one traditional aspect of the Fourth of July celebration—chicken or ham for dinner — will still be honored this week.

Broilers and fryers will be featured in many of the nation's supermarkets and neighborhood grocery stores, along with smoked and canned hams. The theory behind the offerings of chickens and ham is that they can be served either hot or cold, indoors or out on the holiday. Ham, in addition, is usually good for some extra meals.

Turkeys Are Bargain

The possibility of getting extra meals may be the reason behind larger-than-usual offerings of turkey on the eve of a holiday. Another reason, meat men say, is the large stocks of gobblers which makes it possible to offer them at bargain prices.

Some stores will tempt the housewife with special prices on barbecue items such as frankfurters and cube steaks, or sandwich fillers like bologna and other cold cuts.

Potato salad, a staple at many a holiday meal, puts little strain on the housewife's pocketbook this year. California long whites and cobblers from North Carolina and Virginia are available in good numbers at prices which make them an outstanding buy. Escarole and chicory are in the same category, along with new, bunched beets from nearby fields, new green cabbage and green or yellow squash.

Lettuce Good Buy

Lettuce is rated as a good buy this week, although showing a wide range in quality and condition which calls for careful selection by the shopper. Other salad staples such as tomatoes, onions, cucumbers and peppers are moderately priced. Other vegetables in the good buy range in most places include snap beans, celery and sweet corn in areas where it's available from nearby farms.

Watermelons Down

Watermelons, a traditional part of the Fourth of July picnic, are available at exceptionally low prices right now. Melons weighing as much as 50 pounds are pouring from fields in Florida, Georgia and South Carolina. Blueberries also are a very good bargain.

Other berries — raspberries, gooseberries, dewberries, blackberries and the like—are more moderately priced except where they're from local fields. Good buys are still to be had in Florida oranges and grapefruit, California oranges and some types of plums from California.

For Deep Dish Pie

Sliced fresh pears sweetened with sugar, spiced with ginger, scented with lemon rind and sprinkled with a bit of flour make a delectable fruit bottom for a deep dish pie. Use your flakiest pastry for the topping!

The school, which began June 24, has had as its special project the raising of money to help support the recreational work among the migrant children at the center. Over $50 has been contributed by the children and young people toward this project during the 10 days of the school.

75 Attended

Seventy-five children and young people have attended the vacation school which has been conducted by the Clinton Avenue Church under the direction of Mrs. Francis Short, chairman of the commission on education of the church. The teaching staff has consisted of nine persons with four more serving as helpers.

At the special closing program Wednesday the pupils also will present their exercises and demonstrate their accomplishments. The public is cordially invited to this program. Parents and friends of the youngsters are especially urged to attend.

Girl Still Missing

Grants Pass, Ore., July 2 (AP)—A heavy rain fell in a wooded area west of here last night as some 1,200 volunteers turned out with lights, to look for a five-year-old girl missing since Saturday evening. The girl, Cheryl Lea Johnston, was barefoot and clad only in a swimming suit, when she disappeared from a children's picnic at Finley Bend on the Rogue river in Matson State Park. At night temperatures in the area fell to the low 40s.

Upstate Man Killed

Alden, N. Y., July 2 (AP) — Frank Lang, 74, was killed today when struck by an automobile near his home outside this Erie county village. State police said he was apparently the victim of a hit-and-run driver.

Add Cheese to Potatoes

Add grated cheddar cheese to those mashed potatoes, turn into a pie plate, dot with butter or margarine and reheat in a hot oven or under the broiler. Nice for lunch with broiled tomatoes and leafy green spinach.

Bloomgarden Tied

New York, July 2 (AP) — A dairy farmer tied quiz champ Hank Bloomgarden twice last night on NBC-TV's "Twenty-One" show. The two will tangle again next Monday night at $2,000 a point. Farmer Harold Craig, 26, of Granville, N. Y., had tied Bloomgarden on last week's show. Craig tied the 28-year-old public relations consultant again in the first game last night at $1,000 a point. The second game, at $1,500 a point, also ended in a tie. Bloomgarden has won $116,000 on the show so far.

For tin roofs a brown or red iron oxide paint is generally recommended. This paint is both attractive and durable. Paints of the type known as "trim-and-trellis" can also be used for the purpose, if other colors are desired.

Supervisors Meet Earlier in July

The regular scheduled meeting of the board of supervisors for July has been advanced to Tuesday, July 9, at 8 p. m., instead of the usual second Thursday.

Change of the date for the July meeting was done to avoid conflict with other scheduled activities.

Fan Hours Lost

Cleveland (AP)—The Cleveland Transit Authority, anxious to do a little boosting for the hometown baseball team, plastered its vehicles with this announcement: "Chicago vs. Cleveland. Stadium—2 p. m." Indian rooters, not wanting to miss the first pitch, hurried out to the lakefront stadium—and spent an hour cooling their heels until game time at 3 p. m.

Will Remove Stains

A tiny bit of silver polish rubbed on the bottom of your iron will remove stains. Wipe off with a very well wrung-out damp cloth, then let dry before using.

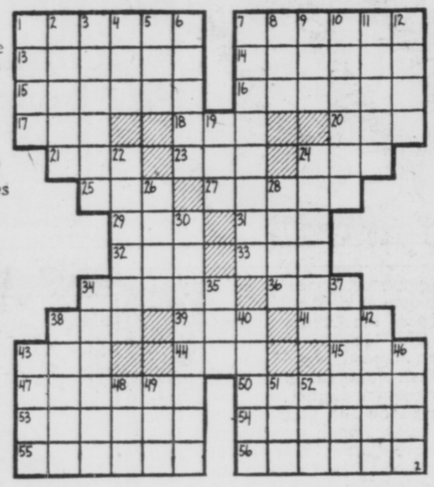
Answer to Previous Puzzle



Lawn Day's Journey

Madison, Wis. (AP)—Two salesmen from Monroe found a little mower will go a long way. A prospective buyer here told John Kleier and LaVerne Lehman that he would buy a single-seat power mower from them if it was good enough to come all the way from Monroe under its power—a distance of 50 miles. The two men, working in relays, drove the mower here in one day. "That was the equivalent of 4½ years of mowing," Lehman estimated. They made the sale.

Rescue Squad

Franklin, Ky. (AP)—A voice on the telephone told the sergeant at police headquarters to "come out to my house. Something awful is going to happen." When police arrived at the Kratzert home, they found 4-year-old Billy hiding behind a couch. "What's the matter, feller?" asked the law. "She was going to spank me," said the youngster, pointing at a baby-sitter. Police persuaded the sitter to let Billy's parents take care of the matter when they returned.

Says Tests Must Continue

Washington, July 2 (AP)—Republican Rep. W. Sterling Cole of Bath, N. Y., says any unqualified agreement to suspend tests of atomic weapons would be "ill advised." "The world should know," Cole said yesterday in the house, "that our only purpose for continuing the tests is to remove the hazard which might befall innocent people if they are ever used as weapons." He said the tests must continue so that the weapons can be made "clean." Then, "if and when an atomic weapons is ever used in battle, there will be no victims of innocent, distant civil population." Clean bombs are those without dangerous radioactive fallout.

Compulsory Car

the registrations of 56,849 motorists for failure to maintain the required coverage.

However, nearly a quarter of these were quickly restored when motorists were able to demonstrate that there was no lapse in coverage.

In most cases the motorists had switched insurance companies and the bureau had not been notified by the new company until after the former company had filed notice of cancellation.

700,000 Uninsured

During the same period, another 26,090 motorists voluntarily surrendered their license plates when their coverage was cancelled or allowed to lapse.

Kelly said that about 700,000 uninsured vehicles were plying New York's highways last year, about 14 per cent of all registered vehicles in the state. Since compulsory insurance was adopted, the percentage has been cut to "only a fraction of one per cent," he said.

The law requires all vehicles to carry minimum liability insurance of $10,000-$20,000 for personal injury and $5,000 for property damage.

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 2 (AP)—The stock market advanced early this afternoon. Trading was more active than it has been in days.

Radio-televisions, oils and rails were in demand as key stocks moved upward from fractions to around 2 points.

Specialties continued to attract interest. But there were also some losers among pivotal issues, notably in aircrafts and nonferrous metals.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 50 cents to $182.90 with the industrials up 50 cents, the rails up $1.10 and the utilities up 20 cents.

On the American Stock Exchange prices were generally higher in slow trading.

Corporate bonds continued to recover in light dealings.

U. S. government bonds also were higher in transactions over the counter.

To Question Dulles

Trenton, N. J., July 2 (AP)—Former Federal Judge William Clark today won the right to question Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in Clark's $150,000 libel suit against James B. Conant. In a hearing on the suit in U. S. District Court, Judge Madden temporarily delayed ruling on a Justice Department move to dismiss the action. He gave Clark, of Princeton, and his lawyer 20 days to prepare questions for Dulles and Conant to answer and another 30 days to get back the replies.

Mounting Misery

not want people in Cameron any more or any longer than absolutely necessary," the Red Cross reported. This applied not only to returning refugees but also to the cleanup squads still seeking bodies in the debris.

By request of health authorities, the Red Cross said, it is withdrawing its own disaster crews at night, and encouraging the cleanup squads to follow suit.

"There was talk of a tent city to shelter Cameron's people who wish so desperately to return," the Red Cross statement continued. "But health authorities spiked that one quick."

Still Find Survivors

Although the effort now was concentrated on removing the dead, the Red Cross revealed that as late yesterday survivors still were being found afloat in receding flood waters.

Cameron, once a village of 3,000 persons, lacked fresh water, sewage facilities, means to refrigerate food, electricity and protection against multiplying hordes of mosquitoes.

Rats and poisonous snakes held sway in the wreckage.

Pestilence — typhoid, tetanus and malaria—was a lurking menace.

More than 40,000 doses of antityphoid vaccine already has been sent in the area and the Louisiana State Health Department was able to report:

"No one has yet come down with typhoid."

May Aid Cancer Cure

Lindau, Germany, July 2 (AP)—An American scientist today told Nobel prize winners from the world over that there may be closer links between viruses and cancer than originally assumed. Prof. Wendell M. Stanley of Berkeley, Calif., a Nobel prize winner in chemistry in 1946, was one of several scientists who lectured on cancer during the second session of the Nobel winners' annual convention. Prof. Stanley said establishment of a closer link between viruses and cancer could open new roads to a final cure.

accepted by the other unions. The sheetmetal union asked for a two-year pact with a wage rise of 40 cents an hour and about 48 cents an hour in fringe benefits.

The steamfitters were reported to have struck over the issue of mechanization.

Cement Strike

Medusa Portland Cement Co.

In Chicago, the union reached agreement with the Marquette Cement Mfg. Co., although there was a dispute on the total involved.

Ray Williams, the union's Illinois area representative, estimated the total of about 20 cents an hour. The company said it was "over 16 cents."

Authority Worried

The New York State Thruway Authority said today that a continued strike could delay construction of three projects now underway.

"We're quite worried" about the strike, a spokesman said.

He reported that projects that could be held up were the Silver Creek-Buffalo section of the Erie spur; the connection with the Garden State Parkway and the connection with the Connecticut Turnpike.

The spokesman said engineers were checking to determine whether there was enough concrete available to finish the Garden State connection, scheduled for completion by Aug. 1.

The 30-mile link between Buffalo and Silver Creek was due for completion by Dec. 31 and the New England spur by early next year.

Work on the Berkshire spur, connecting with the Massachusetts Turnpike, and the Niagara spur from Buffalo have not reached the cement-pouring stage.

The group then adjourned to the camp fires for refreshments, after which all the boys formed a "Living Circle," and the meeting was closed.

New Trade Deals

Vienna, July 1 (AP) — Communist-ruled Czechoslovakia today announced new trade deals with Egypt and Afghanistan. At the same time an Egyptian trade envoy was quoted by Prague newspapers as saying the Czechs had convinced him they are not re-exporting Egyptian cotton and dumping it on the world market at cut-rate prices. Mohamed Farghali, chairman of the Egyptian Cotton Bureau, told a Prague news conference that Czechoslovakia now ranks second to Russia as a buyer of Egypt's cotton.

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks

without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be remoistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it to action; to a normal urge to purge.

And, of all laxatives, only COLONAID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONAID'S great moisturizing capacity, plus COLONAID'S stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONAID is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONAID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98c for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

Driver Escapes Serious Injury In Rt. 32 Mishap

A driver whose car was almost broken in half when it left Route 32 in Bloomington early this morning and "wrapped itself around a tree" got only a scratch over his right ear.

William J. Grandy, 26, of Bayside, L. I., was treated by a Schultz Ambulance attendant but did not go to the hospital.

Mr. Grandy told Kingston state police he remembered nothing of what happened until he found himself standing outside the wreck of his sedan.

Troopers James Caljian and Roger Lesnewski reported that Mr. Grandy was traveling north at an unknown rate of speed when the vehicle went off the east shoulder, crossed back over the highway, leaving the road on the west side, plunging into a ditch and striking a tree.

Trooper Caljian told The Freeman that the car was "just about in two pieces." It is believed that Mr. Grandy was thrown from the car when it turned over.

Cincinnati (AP) — A man from whom police confiscated a blackjack and .45 caliber automatic is suing the city of Cincinnati for $1,500 because loss of the weapons is causing him to "suffer from a feeling of insecurity." Police say they took the blackjack and automatic from Henry Lee Ivery after he fired a shot at a prowler, they said they were not convinced he was the proper owner of the weapons.

Cadets, Two Girls Drift to Safety

La Plata, Md., July 2 (AP)— Two West Point cadets and two teenage girls drifted to safety in a disabled motor boat early today, ending an overnight search of the lower Potomac river.

"We drifted from about 4:45 yesterday afternoon until the boat beached 10 miles downstream at Westmoreland State Park on the Virginia side about 3:30 this morning," Cadet Robert Totten, 18, of Colorado Springs, Colo., related.

He said the outboard motor ran out of gasoline in midstream as they were returning from [illegible] side, Md., summer home of Lt. [illegible] army ordnance, who is Totten's uncle. The boat belonged to Cummings.

The other cadet was James Kane, 18, of Salida, Colo. He and Totten were on leave from the U. S. Military Academy. The girls were Jane Doherty, 18, and Lynn Wienecke, 17, both of Arlington, Va. Lynn's father is Maj. Gen. Robert Wienecke.

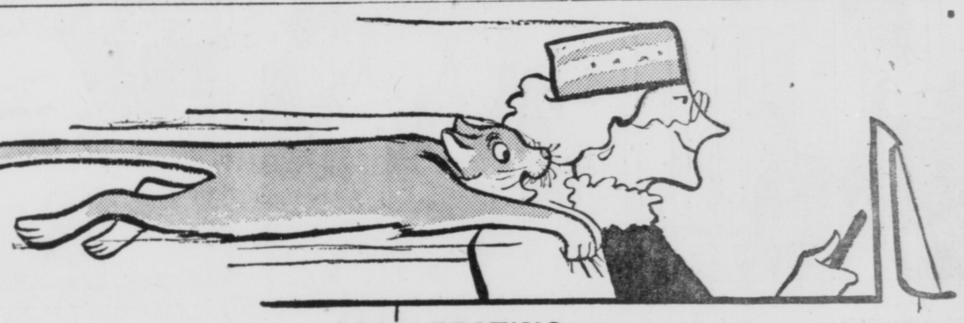
THE MOST POWERFUL GASOLINE ANY CAR CAN USE!



ACCELERATING—When you get away quick from a standing start, every cylinder of your engine burns the maximum fuel charge. Unless your gasoline has sufficient octane, it can't deliver full power. Super Shell has all the octane any car needs for full-power acceleration.

CRUISING—As you loaf along on the open road, octane is no problem. Here, you want extra mileage. You get it with Super Shell because it contains toluene, a major power ingredient of aviation fuel. This gives Super Shell more combustion energy, which means extra miles at cruising speed.

PASSING—When you accelerate suddenly at highway speeds to pass, your engine is running at maximum temperatures. Your engine demands still another octane value. Super Shell has heat-stable aviation fuel components to give your car knock-free power for safe passing.

Super Shell instantly and automatically supplies any engine with the full octane value required for knock-free power...under every driving condition

SUPER SHELL is a new grade of gasoline from the molecules up! It's a higher grade of gasoline—developed to meet the critical power demands of today's high-compression cars and the even more powerful cars of the future.

At the same time, Super Shell delivers better performance than ever in cars now using premium gasoline. That's because Super Shell Gasoline automatically supplies the octane value any engine needs under every driving condition. This means you get maximum acceleration from a standing start . . . more miles from every gallon while cruising . . . extra power for safe passing at highway speeds.

And Super Shell has TCP* additive to guard your power. TCP neutralizes harmful engine deposits and unleashes the full power of high octane, mile after mile.

See your Shell Dealer and fill up with Super Shell . . . the most powerful gasoline any car can use!

Dinner was a little late. A guest asked the hostess to play something. Seating her self at the piano, the good woman executed a Chopin' nocturne with precision. She finished, and there was still an interval of waiting to be bridged. In the grim silence she turned to an old gentleman on her right and said:

Hostess—Would you like a sonata before going in to dinner?

He gave a start of surprise and pleasure as he responded briskly:

Gentleman—Why, yes, thanks! I had a couple on my way here, but I could stand another.

Local Youths Leave On UN Pilgrimage

Woodstock, July 2—John Wetterau and Richard Frodsham, both of Woodstock, left Sunday morning as delegates to the eighth annual United Nations Youth Pilgrimage, in New York city.

Both boys are being sponsored by Bearsville Lodge, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, No. 533. Accoring to Paul Rowe, this annual pilgrimage has attained such broad scope and popularity that about 700 boys and girls will be making the journey this summer to New York city. The young delegates are 16 and 17 years of age and are either juniors or seniors in high school. They will be from every Province of Canada and from every state of the Union.

Much of the enthusiasm for this educational project for youth comes because of the care with which it is organized to provide top educational and recreational features and the impartiality observed in selecting candidates. John and Richard were chosen by the educational leaders of their respective schools on the basis of "character, leadership, scholarship, interest in civic affairs and general fitness," and the local lodge of Odd Fellows in no way influenced or interferred with the choice of delegates.

During their week in New York the delegates will live right on Times Square at the Hotel Claridge. Meals will be taken at the UN delegates dining room, Sloane House YMCA, the Automat, International House, Fraunces Tavern where George Washington bade farewell to his officers and at other interesting places. They will have a three hour boat trip around Manhattan Island, make a guided tour of Rockefeller Center, enjoy reserved seats at Radio City Music Hall, and visit the Statue of Liberty.

These recreational and educational aspects of the project, however, are incidental to the real purpose of the pilgrimage, which is making a first hand study of how the United Nations functions. Delegates will see councils and commissions of the United Nations in action; they will view the unique 38 story Secretariat Building; they will have interviews with delegation representatives from various member countries and actually sit in council chambers with ear phones.

They may tune in on any one of the five official languages—English, French, Russian, Chinese and Spanish. They will also attend a briefing on the part the U. S. A. plays in UN affairs, given by Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., chief of the U. S. delegates, who has said of this pilgrimage, "The Odd Fellows are doing a real service in focussing attention on the problems and opportunities which face the United States in the world today, which affects the daily life of every American citizen."

The local committee in charge of this year's pilgrimage are Past District Deputy Paul Rowe, chairman; Willard Berryan, district deputy grand master and Maurice Hamilton, vice-grand of Bearsville Lodge. This committee has been working diligently since last fall to raise the necessary funds, select the delegates and to confirm their appointments. Their work will not end until these boys have been escorted safely to and from the pilgrimage by one or more members of the committee.

Lodge Names Delegate To Syracuse Parley

Woodstock, July 2—At the regular meeting of Bearsville Lodge held recently, District Deputy Grand Master Willard Berryan, of Woodstock was elected as delegate to the convention of the Grand Lodge to be held in Syracuse during the week of August 18.

Edgar Baker, a past grand of Bearsville Lodge and its present chaplain as well as district grand chaplain on the staff of DDGM Berryan, was chosen as proxy delegate. Both delegates expect to attend the convention at which time state officers are selected for the ensuing year.

District Deputy Grand Master Berryan, of Ulster District, Independent Order of Odd Fellows announces that he will, with his staff make official visitations to all the lodges of his district during the month of July as follows: July 2—Catskill Mt. Lodge, West Saugerties; July 5—Bearsville Lodge, Bearsville; July 2—William H. Raymond Lodge, Saugerties; July 10—Aretas Lodge, Kingston; July 13—Shokan Lodge, Olive Bridge; July 18—Sunshine Lodge, Highland; July 23—Phoenicia Lodge, Phoenicia.

This will be the last official visitation of the district deputy before relinquishing the duties of his office to the newly elected District Deputy Walter Lang of West Shokan.

Playhouse Staff Met Prior to Opening

Woodstock, July 2 — A. L. Sainer, who has been in Woodstock to make preparations for the opening of his Woodstock Playhouse, this evening, with "A Hatful of Rain," entertained members of his staff, the cast of the play and the members of the press, Sunday afternoon at the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Solomon, Ohayo Mountain road.

After the party the press was shown the renovations recently completed at the Playhouse. The box office has been moved to the right hand side of the lobby. William Carr, Playhouse business manager expressed his gratification over his improved and enlarged quarters. A new ladies powder room has also been installed at the Playhouse.

Former Warden Dies

Mountain View, Calif., July 2 (AP) — Court Smith, 81, former warden at both San Quentin and Folsom prisons, died Sunday night. He resigned as warden at San Quentin in 1940 after a career of nearly four decades. He was outspoken in his criticism of the gas chamber. All of California's legal executions are by gas, at San Quentin. "Hanging is bad enough," he said, "but this—it's terrible."

Cadillac

America At Its Bountiful Best!

You are looking, as you surely know, at a magnificent motor car—beautiful, luxurious, substantial and inspiring.

But you are also looking at something more than a motor car. For this is a Cadillac—and here, without question, is tangible proof of the bountiful land that is America!

In fact, wherever the world's highways lead, the great Cadillac car has told the wondrous story of America in a unique and wonderful way.

Certainly, for instance, no one could behold a Cadillac without gaining new respect for our freedom to create and to produce. For where but from America could there come a motor car so rare in beauty or so marvelous in quality and luxury?

Surely, no one could take the wheel of a Cadillac without appreciating our nation's industrial skill and progress. For where but from America could there come a motor car so fine in performance and so superb in craftsmanship?

And most assuredly, no one could hear the practical facts about Cadillac without marveling at our nation's well-being. For where but in America could so prized a personal possession be brought within the economic range of so many?

We think it appropriate, therefore, to pay tribute to these precious American virtues—and to express our own gratitude at having been privileged to put them to such extraordinary use as is witnessed in the "car of cars".

And we should also like to take this opportunity of personally inviting all America to see and inspect its "ambassador at large".

You will find that the 1957 Cadillac, with its luxurious Fleetwood coachcrafting, is the finest "Standard of the World" ever created. And you will also find that this is the perfect moment, from the standpoint of both delivery and economy, to make the move to Cadillac.

The car will be waiting for you in the showroom of your Cadillac dealer—and you will be most welcome at any time you find convenient!

Home-Seekers Open New Building Friday

Public Inspection of New Fair Street Main Office

Home-Seekers' Savings and Loan Association will mark the opening of its new main office at 235 Fair street with "open house" and public inspection on Friday and Saturday of this week.

Directors and staff members of the association will be present to point out features of the new building on Friday from 9 a. m. to 7:30 p. m., and on Saturday from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. It is planned to distribute gifts to those who visit the building—money clips for the adults, piggy banks for the children.

A month-long "Grand Opening Celebration" will be held, during which Home-Seekers' offers a free $2 gift certificate to each person who opens a new savings or installment account with $25 or more, or who adds $25 or more to an existing savings account. There will be a limit of one certificate for an account, but the offer will apply at either the new office or the Central Broadway Office, 28 Broadway, which is being maintained by the association. These certificates will be given out from July 5 through July 31, 1957. Nearly 20 local stores have indicated willingness to accept the Home-Seekers' gift certificates in trade.

KINGSTON'S OLDEST savings and loan association, Home-Seekers' has maintained its main office in the downtown section of the city for 68 years, the past 13 of which it occupied its own building at the corner of Broadway and Strand. This office will close when the association moves into the new main office on July 5. Permission to move to the uptown location was granted by the State Banking Department on the basis of public convenience and necessity. The branch office, opened in 1951 on Broadway near O'Neil street, will remain open.

The new office, designed and constructed specially for Home-Seekers', has two stories and basement, is of brick construction with white marble trim, and measures 48 by 72 feet. Provision has been made for a drive-in window and for customer parking space.

The first floor contains the banking facilities, directors' room, closing room, and office for the executive and clerical staff. In the basement are the heater rooms, records vault, employes' lounge, locker room and kitchenette. The third floor consists of office space with separate entrance from Fair street. Suites have already been engaged by the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company for its divisional office; by Krom and Canavan, real estate brokers and John B. Sterley and Robert A. MacKinnon, attorneys.

AMONG THE NEW features to greet the visitor when he enters the building's spacious lobby is the saw tooth counter, first of its kind in Kingston, installed by the Kump Woodworking Company of Brooklyn, specialists in bank counters. This is constructed of fiddle-back mahogany imported from Africa, and has black Micarta top.

A five-ton steel vault door which swings open or closed at the touch of a button has been installed by the Herring-Hall-Marvin Safe Company, which also furnished the drive-in teller window and the night envelope depository.

The building is air conditioned, fireproof, and has recessed fluorescent lighting and acoustic ceiling.

The building was designed and its construction supervised by Harry Halverson, A.I.A., architect. Mr. Halverson, a director of Home-Seekers', has also designed and supervised the building of many important projects in the area, including among his more recent projects the Kingston Hospital addition, Dormitory and Student Union Building at New Paltz State Teachers College, George Washington School, First Dutch Church parish hall, Rondout National Bank, Ulster County Saving Institution, Colonial Gardens, and Kingston City Laboratory and Tumor Clinic.

HENRY H. SWART & SON and Thomas Kennedy & Son were the general contractors. Other building contractors were: C. B. Strain & Son, Inc., plumbing; David Jacobs, electrical; Greenwald & Supon Co., air conditioning; Jay Steel Products, Inc., structural steel; Leo Yonnetti, painting and decorating; Anthony Costanzi, blacktop, curb and fencing.

Other firms providing materials and equipment included the Herring-Hall-Marvin Safe Co., vault door, drive-in window, night depository and vault equipment; The Kelder Nursery, shrubbery; Modjeska Sign Studios, Inc., signs and clock; Kump Woodworking Company, counters, checking desk and table for closing room.

Joseph Stephano, paving; Henry A. Olson, Inc., roofing; Murphy Door Bed Co., kitchenette unit; Shapiro's Paints, wallpaper; The Wonderly Co., Inc., draperies; J. A. Cassidy & Son, Inc., refrigeration; Herzog Supply Co., hardware; Johns-Manville Sales Corp., acoustical ma-

No listing of staff members would be complete without mention of James H. Brown, custodian at Home-Seekers' downtown office since its opening in 1944 and who previously cared for the association's rented quarters for a total of 24 years of service to the association. Mr. Brown will be leaving the staff with the closing of the downtown office.

First Society

The first building society was organized in Birmingham, England, in 1871. The first organization of its kind in America was founded in Frankford, Pa., in 1831. The first savings and loan business in Kingston was founded in 1889 by the Homeseekers' Savings and Loan Association.

Association Has Ten-Man Board

Guiding Home-Seekers' Savings and Loan Association policy and responsible for its management is a 10-man board of directors.

President and counsel is John B. Sterley, who also has the record of the longest service on the board of any of the present directors, having been elected October 3, 1927. A practicing attorney, President Sterley served as Surrogate Judge of Ulster county for 13 years until the expiration of his term December 31, 1956. Originally appointed by Governor Thomas E. Dewey, he was re-elected Surrogate for two full six-year terms. He was elected assistant counsel of Home-Seekers' in 1933, and became counsel in 1944. He became president of the association in January of this year, succeeding the late Henry J. Wieber. Judge Sterley's father-in-law, the late Frederick Stephan, Jr., was one of the organizers of Home-Seekers' and served as its counsel from its first meeting in 1889 until his death in 1944.

Former Police Chief J. Allan Wood is a vice president of the association. He has served on the board of directors since March 2, 1942, is a veteran of the Spanish-American War, and was chief of the Kingston Police Department for 32 years, from 1908 until his retirement in 1940.

William B. Byrne is the other vice president. Associated with Byrne Brothers Monuments from 1900 to 1939, he served as city treasurer during the administration of former Mayor William F. Edelmuth, has served as a member of the Kingston Welfare Board and as its president for one term, and assisted in the organization of the Draft Board, of which he served as chairman from 1939 to 1942. He became a

Big Lending Year

One of the biggest lending years in the history of savings and loan associations was 1955 when total mortgage closings amounted to $11.4 billion. Virtually all loans made today are fully amortized and repayable in monthly installments. This is in contrast to early procedures when loans were typically repaid in one lump sum. Borrowers often accumulated savings shares as pledges against their mortgage debt.

Interest Rates

Interest rates on mortgage loans, similar to rates throughout the money market as a whole, reflect the availability of funds on one side and the demand for credit on the other. Mortgage rates, however, tend not to respond so readily to demand and supply factors as do those involving shorter term credit. Throughout the past decade the general level of interest rates on mortgage loans has moved within a range of scarcely more than 1 percent.

32.3 Billion Dollars

Safeguarding $32.3 billion of savings at year-end, 1955, the nation-wide savings and loan business has nearly quadrupled its assets in the post-war period. In 1955 alone, assets rose $6.1 billion or 19 per cent. Approximately 18¼ million Americans use the safe and convenient facilities and services of the more than 6,000 savings and loan association and co-operative banks.

10 Million Dollar Mark Passed by Homeseekers

What is destined to be a new era for the business built on faith in people and the endeavor to serve by financial assistance, begins July 5 when the Homeseekers' Savings and Loan Association of Kingston opens its new modern main office at 233-239 Fair street. Nearly 70 years of service and advancement stands back of the association as it takes this important step for the convenience of its customers.

The grand opening of the new office will come as the association is observing a banner year. The steady growth of the Homeseekers' organization was highlighted last October when the 10 million mark for assets was passed.

At the annual report in January, Deweese W. DeWitt, executive vice president, stated that in addition to passing the 10 million dollar mark, mortgages outstanding and shareholder accounts stood at the highest figure in the history of the association. Savings accounts gained a little over $600,000 during the year. Surplus and reserves increased to approximately $980,000, which is 11 per cent of the savings entrusted to the association.

EVEN IN THE EARLIEST days of the association, a prosperous development was evident. Organized in the summer of 1889, the first financial report of the new association was made January 6, 1890 when the total assets were listed at $3,901.30. The following July the assets had climbed to $9,420.38 and by the end of the year to $17,915.88.

The second annual report in July 1891 showed assets at $25,-657.65; third annual report in July 1892 assets were $47,417.87; and the fourth annual report totaled assets at $112,367.47.

Comparing assets over the past four decades reveals significant progress. Total assets as December 31, 1916 ware $247,-557.54; December 31, 1926 assets were $1,347,462.97; December 31, 1946 assets were $4,789,-484.55; to December 31, 1956 record of $10,350,500.42.

The idea of a savings and loan business was not new back in the 1880's. The first association was formed in Frankford, Pa., in 1831. However, by 1882 the plan was becoming nationwide and a meeting was held at the Rondout YMCA to discuss the need for a building and loan association in Kingston. There did not seem to be sufficient interest and the idea was dropped temporarily.

During the winter of 1888, the daily papers repeatedly referred to the subject. Interest was renewed to such an extent that a number of meetings were held in the spring of 1889. As a result Lambert J. DuBois contacted interested persons and a meeting was called at the store of W. B. Terwilliger on the Strand to consolidate plans.

WHO WERE THESE MEN? There was a manager of a cement company store, a physician, a manufacturer of mattresses and overalls, the superintendent of the job department of the Kingston Freeman, a future mayor of Kingston, a painter and contractor, a bookkeeper, a receiving clerk, a tinsmith, an attorney and others.

These men brought to the conference valuable experience from a wide cross section of businesses and professions. Mr. DuBois was chosen chairman of this first meeting and A. E. Benson explained the plan.

Rapid organization ensued. It was agreed to name the association "Home Co-operative Savings and Loan Association of the City of Kingston, Rondout, N. Y." Loans would be placed at 4½ per cent interest.

Subsequent meetings found Oscar L. Eastman and A. A. Crosby serving as chairmen.

A large measure of credit should be given the committee which formulated the organization and particularly to Frederick Stephan, Jr., then a young attorney, who drafted the original constitution and by-laws. Judge Stephan was elected attorney for the association at its first meeting and served in that position for 55 years until his death in 1944.

First Directors

The first board of directors elected July 15, 1889 included Adelbert H. Mambert, president; Abel A. Crosby, vice president; Palmer A. Canfield, Jr., treasurer; Lambert J. DuBois, secretary; Luther L. Osterhoudt, William B. Terwilliger, R. W. Anderson, Chris Larsen, Remson B. DuBois, Joseph C. Mould, Allen S. Hammond, Ephraim G. Adams, Daniel Halloran, directors.

The first regular meeting of the board was held July 24, 1889. It was followed by monthly meetings.

In 1891, the name of the association was changed to "Home-Seekers' Co-Operative Savings and Loan Association." The word "Co-operative" was dropped from the corporate name in 1942.

In January 1900, the Homeseekers' association of Kingston became a member of the New York State League of Cooperative Savings and Building-Loan Associations.

Establishment of the board of directors on three-year terms was voted at the annual meeting in 1903.

Following the annual meeting in July 1910, the association was heralded as "prosperous" in the local press. The financial report showed a net profit of $9,897.64. A divident of $4.66 was declared and $500 added to the reserve fund. The tenth series would mature in October and $17,000 would be paid to free shareholders. Fourteen mortgages would be cancelled at the same time.

Six Presidents

Only six presidents have served during the 68 years of Homeseekers. Their names with the years they served in office are Dr. Adelbert H. Mambert, 1889-1920; James Tongue Jr., 1920-1938; Fred J. Walters, 1938-1942; Dr. Samuel Stern, 1942-1952; Henry J. Wieber, 1952-1956; John B. Sterley, 1957-.

During the years to the early 1940's, the association changed its address four times, all offices being in the lower Broadway area. In 1944 the association felt the need for a home of its own and purchased the First National Bank of Rondout building at 10 Broadway.

In the next few years business trends away from the Rondout section of the city became apparent. To accomodate customers, a branch office was opened in 1950 at 628 Broadway in the central part of the city.

Shortly after opening the branch office, the general outline for the principal business area of Kingston became firmly established uptown. With this fact in mind the directors decided to move the main office to the Fair street location.

The office at 10 Broadway will be closed but the branch office at 628 Broadway will be continued.

Besides providing additional working space and facilities needed for the present volume of business, the new uptown office will feature modern-day conveniences: a drive-in window, a night depository, and complete air-conditioning. Parking space behind the building will be reserved for customers' cars.

Thus the directors feel the new location will provide a suitable, convenient and favorable place for business to the public.

Home Ownership Has Increased

If you own your own home, you've lots of company. Nearly six of every 10 nonfarm dwelling units in America today are owned by the people who live in them.

Not so in grandpa's day. Chances are grandfather rented all his life and collected those rent receipts. For at the turn of the century, not more than 37 per cent of the nonfarm families occupied their own homes.

This trend to home ownership is expected to continue with some experts predicting that by 1970, three-quarters of all nonfarm families in the United States will own their own homes.

Savings and loan associations have played a key role in making the United States a nation of home owners. For many years, exceeding any other type of lending institution, they have been responsible for 30 to 38 per cent of the nation's aggregate home mortgage financing.

GENERAL RISE in the standard of living in the United States is reflected by the gains in home ownership. More young people are achieving home ownership earlier in their careers and at the other extreme, increasing numbers of older people are purchasing new homes for their later years. Greater incomes for both groups are making this possible—for the younger people, higher earnings and the fact that often both husband and wife are wage earners; for the older people, social security, pension and retirement plans add to the cash reserves.

The decade of the 1940's saw a net increase in home-owning families of no less than 8.4 million, despite the war years when new construction was curtailed.

By 1950 the proportion of home-owning families passed the half-way mark. Since then the number of households with homes of their own has increased at a faster rate than family formation to reach the present level of 59 per cent.

New construction during the past decade saw no less than 10.5 million private dwelling units put in place.

Wide-spread facilities of home mortgage financing and private enterprise in home building have been largely responsible for the increase.

Urban Dwelling Units

Altogether since the beginning of 1950, no less than seven million privately owned urban dwelling units have been built at a cost of $75 billion. This strong demand for new and improved housing is reflected in the fact that, during the decade following World War 2, the outlay for housing gained somewhat more rapidly than the total national output of goods and services.

Residential Construction

The decade following the close of World War 2 saw the largest volume of residential construction in the nation's history. Due to the depression of the 1930's and the wartime restrictions of the 1940's the impact of an accumulated stortage in housing resulted in the construction of about 10.2 million new homes.

People Had Confidence

The record made by the Home-seekers' association in its early years shows the confidence that the people of Kingston had in the management of its affairs. The local business has been fortunate to this day in having the services of representative business and professional men to guide its policies. Officers and directors are always willing to give residents of this community advice and financial assistance in securing a home.

125th Anniversary

April, 1956, marked the 125th anniversary of the savings and loan business in America. Back in 1831 wage-earning craftsmen and workers had no financial source to buy their own homes and few places in which to keep what they could save. American ingenuity met the need. About 40 men of modest means formed the Oxford Provident Building Association in Frankford, Pa., now part of Philadelphia. In April, 1831, Oxford Provident made the first home loan on the Comly Rich house, still a Philadelphia landmark.

Staggered Teller Shifts to Permit Longer Hours

Use of the drive-in window and staggered teller shifts will permit longer hours at Home-Seekers' Savings and Loan Association for the convenience of the public, according to Deweese W. DeWitt, executive vice president.

The directors have established the following hours, to be put into effect Monday, July 8:

Monday through Thursday, the lobby at the Fair street office and the Central Broadway office will be open from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. The drive-in window at the uptown office will be open from 8:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.

On Fridays, the lobby at the Fair street office and the Central Broadway Office will be open from 9 a. m. to 7:30 p. m. The drive-in window at the uptown office will be open from 8:30 a. m. to 7:30 p. m.

Savings Insured

Since 1889 Homeseekers' without exception has paid savings to customers immediately "on demand." The provision in the by-laws requires 60 days written notice of withdrawl in accordance with the state banking department regulations but it is waived by the board of directors except in very unusual circumstances. Savings are insured up to $10,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation

Robert A. MacKinnon, director, was elected to the board May 13 of this year. A practicing attorney in Kingston, he was graduated from Dartmouth College and Albany Law School. He served in the Navy during World War 2. He is associated in the practice of law with Judge Sterley, and is a member of the Ulster County Alcoholic Beverage Control Board.

George C. Swart, director, was also elected to the board on May 13, 1957. After graduation from Kingston High School in 1927, he became associated with his father in the contracting and construction business. Since the death of his father, Henry H. Swart, he has continued to conduct the business under the name of Henry H. Swart & Son, builders of many local structures including Home-Seekers' new building. During World War 2 he served with the Sea Bees in the South Pacific Theatre.

Savings Accounts

Homeseekers' Savings accounts have helped thousands to a better life—whether to provide for retirement, the purchase of a business, or to send the children to college or to provide needed extra cash for Christmas shopping, vacation or taxes. Loans have helped many through unforseen expenses.

Leading Home

Savings and loan associations are the nation's leading financiers of homes. Eighty percent of their assets are invested in mortgages on 1-to-4 family homes. For many years savings associations have led any other type of lender in the proportion of total home mortgage financing by a considerable margin.

Build Reserves

Savings and loan associations regularly channel earnings into reserve accounts as a cushion against losses. On December 31, 1955, total reserves reached approximately $2,610 million. The net increase during 1955 was the largest of any year. The goal of most savings and loan managements is to build reserves to no less than 10 per cent of total assets.

Priest Slays Bishop

Rio de Janeiro, July 2 (AP)—The mayor of a north Brazilian city reported today a Roman Catholic priest had shot his bishop to death. Mayor Antonio Figueira of Garanhuns in Pernambuco state told this story: The Rev. Hosana Siqueira, parish priest of Quipapah, Expedito Most Rev. Francisco Expedito Lopes had been on bad terms for several months. The bishop suspended him finally for "bad conduct." The priest came to Garanhuns and demanded that the radio station there broadcast an attack on the bishop. The radio station refused, and the priest went to the palace yesterday and asked to see the bishop. When the bishop entered the reception room, the priest fired three times point blank and fled.

Man, Woman Held For Grand Jury On Larceny Count

Lester Quick, 23, and Ruth Fairbairn, 42, of West Shokan, both married, were arrested by state police Monday on warrants charging grand larceny for the alleged taking on June 17 of the 1956 car of Melvin Fairbairn, husband of Ruth, without his consent.

Quick was also charged under another warrant sworn out by his wife, Helen, with abandonment.

Both were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Frank C. Carl of the town of Olive and after waiving examination were held for the grand jury and remanded to jail.

Fairbairn swore out warrants charging his wife and Quick with grand larceny, first degree, for the taking of the car and Mrs. Quick swore out a warrant charging her husband with abandonment. Quick was arrested Monday at West Shokan and Mrs. Fairbairn was arrested at Phoenicia.

Pilot Keeps Word, Dies

Calabasas, Calif., July 2 (AP)—A pilot who said he'd never drop a plane on someone's house rode a flaming plywood bomber across the populous San Fernando Valley to his death yesterday. James Keith Gibbs, 31, died in the crash of a war-surplus British Mosquito bomber. The twin-engine craft dived into a canyon and exploded about 30 air miles northwest of Los Angeles. Gibbs had a parachute and, evidently thinking of using it, released his escape hatch. It fell on the grounds of Pierce Junior College in the valley.

Anne Fogarty Wins '57 Award

These are fashions from the hands of the nation's Cotton Fashion Award winners, past and present. From the 1957 summer collection of Adele Simpson, first winner of the award, comes a full-skirted cotton voile print with gathered bodice and curved neckline (left). The 1956 winner was designer Ben Reig. From his current summer collection comes a town costume (center) in pin-checked woven cotton. The fabric is black-and-white. Brief cape is collared in velvet. The 1957 winner, Anne Fogarty, shows a cool shirtwaist dress (right) of reverse-dotted cotton in blue-and-white. Birds are embroidered on the sleeves.

BY GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

New York—(NEA)—A designer who won her first fame as an advocate of the full skirt with many petticoats is this year's winner of the annual Cotton Fashion Award.

She is petite Anne Fogarty, the designer who specializes in the young figure. But included in her citified cottons his year is the slim and sleek yound dress. She hasn't deserted the full skirt. She has many versions of it in her summer collection. But she thinks the slim dress has youthful sophistication and many of her followers are both young and sleek.

Now a leading American designer, Anne Fogarty has been in the fashion business 10 years. She got her start in the theater as an actress, but she soon realized that she loved clothes and lost interest in a production once the cast had been outfitted.

She became a model, then learned sketching techniques. Her first designing break came in 1947 and she has been designing for Margot since 1950.

A tiny size five herself, she does her silver-gray hair in a modern version of the Dutch bob. Both in business and at home, she wears her own designs and wouldn't, as a matter of fact, think of designing something that she couldn't wear.

FUNERAL SERVICES WITHOUT INVITATION

Dear Mrs. Post: In a recent answer to a question concerning funerals, you told one of your readers that "unless a funeral were private, nearest friends of the family are supposed to go to the funeral without waiting to be asked." I do not agree with you on this score as the family may not be in a position to have a large funeral and want to limit it to the nearest relatives. If all the friends of the family decided to go it would mean hiring extra funeral cars to accommodate them, and as you know these cars are quite expensive. Won't you please reconsider your answer?

Answer: I meant that all may go to the church, not to the interment. Also those who have their own cars may drive to the cemetery if they want to and take as many friends as their cars will seat.

Staying for the Whole Meeting

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently I asked a new friend if she would like to come to one of our open club meetings. She said she would and we went to the meeting together in her car. After we arrived she said she would have to leave early as she had to be home by a certain time. As there were to be some interesting films shown later in the afternoon another friend offered to drive me home if I wanted to stay. As I was anxious to see the pictures I asked the first friend if she would mind if I stayed. She said no, and left. I would like to know, since we came together and she was my guest, if I was wrong to stay on or should I have left with her?

Answer: As your friend did not tell you until after you arrived at the meeting that she had to leave early, you were entirely justified in staying and returning at the end of the meeting with someone else.

Rising for Tardy Hostess

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently I was invited out to dinner and when I arrived my host greeted me, my hostess being late getting dressed. When my hostess appeared she told me not to get up. Frankly, I hadn't intended to, but since she said that to me I wondered if one is expected to rise to greet a tardy hostess.

Answer: Yes, you should have risen to greet your hostess unless you are much older than she.

Dulles Sees . . .

government to live peacefully in the world.

Other Comments

Dulles made these other comments at a news conference:

1. He would not like the United States to get any more deeply involved in the French-Algerian crises despite pressure in the Senate for American action.

Dulles credited France with assisting five formerly dependent areas, such as Morocco, to achieve self government in recent years. And he said there are many worse examples of colonialism if people want to do something about them—such as Soviet- ruled Lithuania and the satellite countries of Czechoslovakia, Poland and others.

2. He deliberately did not mention in his San Francisco speech the problem created by demands of American newsmen for permission to go to Red China. He wanted to leave the way open to treat that as a special matter if such treatment seems desirable. Dulles' comments strongly indicated he is seeking ways to end the prohibition on U. S. news coverage inside Communist China.

More Heelp Possible

3. Recent U. S. aid grants to the middle eastern kingdom of Jordan—which has persisted in friendship toward the west despite procommunist Egyptian pressures—may be followed by other assistance but the United States has no commitments for future help to Jordan. In past weeks it has agreed to 30 million dollars of aid.

4. Prospects are not very good for an international conference on the unification of Korea. Dulles said Red China and Commuunist North Korea (which have recently called for a big conference) have shown no prospect of accepting a long-standing United Nations requirment for holding United Nations elections throughout the country.

Pilot Tells of 54 Days in Sierra

Castle Air Force Base, Calif., July 2 (AP)—Air Force Lt. Dav- A. Steeves grinned through his eight-weeks beard today and told how he lived 54 days in the night-frozen hign Sierra after parachuting from his plane May 9.

"I feel pretty good now," he said. "I had a lot of pain in my legs most of the time. I was just trying to live."

Three weeks ago the air force had reported him dead.

Down 50 or 60 pounds from his normal 195, the 23-year-old pilot from Trumbull, Conn., was brought here early today from Sequoia-Kings Canyon National Park where he had stumbled onto a pack party.

Wearing a luxuriant curly brown beard, he told an incredible story of survival.

"I wasn't religious when I went in there, but it was faith in the Lord that brought me out," he said.

Girard, Jap Wed, Now Target of Shakedown Try

Camp Whittington, Japan, July 2 (AP)—William S. Girard and his Japanese fiancee were married today—and promply found themselves the target of a shakedown attempt by a shopkeeper who had posed as their friend.

Fukuju Shimizu, 34, promoter of a "forgive Girard" campaign and identified by police as a paroled extortioner, demanded two million yen ($5,500) as "condolence money" for the family of the Japanese woman the 21-year-old GI is accused of killing Jan. 30.

The demand was lodged with the bride, Mrs. Haru (Candy) Girard, 27, less than three hours after she had filed at the U. S. embassy in Tokyo the papers which made her Girard's wife under Japan's laws.

Looking forward to their real marriage Friday when they kneel at the white chapel in this U. S. Army base, Candy found Shimizu waiting for her when she returned from Toyko to her home village.

Shaken and in tears, she told newsmen of the encounter:

"He told me 'the people of Somagahra are angry at you for marrying Girard. You must pay two million yen condolence money to Mr. Akikichi Sakai."

Sakai is the husband of the 46-year-old scrapmetal scavenger killed by an empty cartridge case fired from a grenade launcher on the U. S. firing range near Somagahara.

Cabin and Lodge Are Completed At Tri-Mount

A new staff cabin and a nature lodge have been completed at Camp Tri-Mount, operated by the Rip Van Winkle Council Boy Scouts of America, in East Jewett, Greene county.

The staff cabin, which replaces the smaller cabin destroyed by fire this past winter, will house a portion of the summer camp staff and will also be available for winter camping for local scout troops.

The nature ladge, located on the trail leading to Kay-Bee lake, was a project begun several years ago, became stalled for some time, and was finally completed by the Mountain District of the Rip Van Winkle Council, under the direction of Field Scout Executive Nelson L. Carter.

The addition of both cabins to the facilities of Camp Tri-Mount are a part of a long-range improvement program under the direction of the Camping Committee of the Council, Frank Bourke, chairman.

The nature lodge will be dedicated by the Mountain District —to take its place with the family cabin constructed last year by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 1386, of Kingston, under the direction of Richard Davis, past commander.

NO ELEMENT OF CHANCE

"Calculated risk" seems to be a popular phrase for old-fashioned "gamble." But there's no place for either in preparing or dispensing pharmaceuticals.

Ever notice the letters U.S.P. or N.F. on a medicine label? The letters represent two official books that are recognized by federal law—the United States Pharmacopoeia and the National Formulary.

Together they are the pharmacist's "bible." They give approved standards of the quality, purity, and potency of most medicinal agents.

Whatever your prescription calls for, we are prepared to fill it.

Yonkers Faces Curtailed Fields Starting Friday

Yonkers, N. Y., July 2 (AP)—Yonkers Raceway, where more than a million dollars is wagered nightly on eight trotting and pacing races, faces the prospect of curtailed fields starting Friday as the result of its controversy with the Standardbred Owners Assn. (SOA).

Only 47 pacers and trotters were entered for Friday's races as owners and trainers of major stables began an exodus from the track. Track officials estimated that there probably will be some 300 horses left out of the 600 normally stabled here or nearby.

The officials said they should be able to draw enough entries to fill six races a night and that horses competing in the first two events will come back for the seventh and eighth races.

Departure of horses racing for such leading horsemen as Del Miller, Jimmy Jordan, Stanley Dancer, Billy Haughton, Billy Myer and George Phelan is the latest round in the battle between the track and the SOA over purse money.

The SOA asked for an increase from 35 to 45 per cent of the tracks share of the parimutuel handle. Yonkers refused and then, when the horseman threatened to strike, went into the courts. The track obtained a federal injunction prohibiting the SOA from acting in concert to halt racing at the track. The horseman say they are not acting in concert in taking their horses from the track.

Middlecoff, Stranahan Both Qualify

St. Andrews, Scotland, July 2 (AP)—Cary Middlecoff, two-time American Open champion, shot a second round of 73 over the St. Andrews old course today and apparently qualified for the British Open golf championship with a 36-hole total of 148.

Middlecoff had a 75 yesterday over the shorter, easier new course. His 148 appeared to be well within the qualifying limit, which is expected to be about 150. The low scoring 100 players in the starting field of 290 will qualify for the 72-hole tournament proper, starting tomorrow.

Middlecoff's 72, one over par for the 6,996-yard, par 36-36—72 old course, was made just after Harold Henning of South Africa had equalled the course record with a round of 33-34—67 and a 139 total. Bobby Locke of South Africa, three-time British Open champion, led the early finishers after 36 holes with 57-70—137. He played his second round today on the old course.

Frank Stranahan, wealthy Toledo, Ohio, professional who won the British Amateur title twice before turning pro, shot the old course in 38-32—70 today for a 141 total that assured him of qualifying.

Stranahan, a frequent competitor in British tournaments, came home in 32, four under par.

Tom Fiore of the Indians was the home run leader with four.

Protection Is Brief

Be careful about storing paint brushes for too long a period in either kerosene, turpentine or benzine. These liquids evaporate unless the container is tightly sealed and you may find that it's all gone and the brushes dry and hard.

Arm Against Moisture

Rescue your house from outside moisture by making sure that the enemy is unable to gain entrance at your home's most vulnerable spots. Check such danger spots as framework of windows and doors, bases of porch pillars, under-eave areas and downspouts. Then make certain the necessary repair work is done and apply a new protective coat of paint.

CharmingBarbara Wins at Goshen In Straight Heats

Goshen, N. Y., July 2 (AP)—The trotters were back in Goshen today for a week of Grand Circuit racing at the 103-year-old Historic Track, but whether the famed Hambletonian ever returns is anybody's guess.

This tiny Orange County village is loaded with horses eligible for the great 3-year-old trotting classic, but the Hambletonian is to be raced for the next two years, at least, in DuQuoin, Ill. Many trotters are training here, and later will be shipped west for the $100,000 classic Aug. 27.

"I won't exclude the possibility that the Hambletonian will never return to Goshen," said E. Roland Harriman, president of the Hambletonian Society and head of Historic Track.

John Froelich's Charming Barbara, who won the Acorn Stakes here a year ago as a 2-year-old, defeated ten rival 3-year-old fillies yesterday in the $16,677 Coaching Club Trotting Oaks as Historic opened its 103rd meeting.

Charming Barbara, driven by Billy Haughton, won the Oaks in consecutive heats as the odds on favorite, with clockings of the one mile dashes showing 2:07 1/5 and 2:06 1/5.

Farina-Partner Take Catskill Pro-Member

Armand Farina, the doughty Schenectady Municipal professional, dominated both divisions of the Pro-Member tournament for Northeastern PGA players Monday at the Catskill Country Club.

Farina toured the 27 holes in a 5-under- par 103 to top the field of pros and teamed with Tom Parry to take first prize in the Pro-Member division with a best-ball 64. He toured the par-36 layout in nines of 35-34-33.

Alex Gerlak, of the Twaalfskill Club, shared a four-way tie at 65 with Maynard Peloke. Others in the 65 bracket were Charles De Stefano, College Hill (Poughkeepsie) pro and Dr. John Kowek, Steve Kay (Sharon Springs) and Charles Pierce; and Jim Farina, Ballston Spa pro, and I. M. Oren.

Jim Farina Second

Jim Farina took second place in the Pro division with 107 on nines of 35-36-37. Frank Stuhlers of the Antlers (Amsterdam) posted 37-388-37-112; Tony Fortino of Glens Falls had 40-36-37-113.

Eddie Schultz of the Troy Country Club won the special prize for Senior pros with a score of 114 on nines of 37-37-40. Scotty Robertson of Onteora was second with 117.

Bovee Homers

AL Brooks Win, 10-4

Len Bovee and Bob Smith shared hitting honors as Doc Smith's Dodgers hammered the Lions Club Yanks, 10-4, yesterday in the American Little League.

Bovee clubbed his first homer of the season and Smith doubled twice and singled once to make it easy for Dan Pugliese to post his first pitching win. Pugliese fashioned a five-hitter, struck out eight and walked four.

'57 Alert Underway

Washington, July 2 (AP)—The first phase of "Operation Alert 1957" already is underway. The fourth nationwide civil defense exercise is scheduled to be in full swing in mid-July. But the White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen yesterday that for two weeks, certain key officials have been at work manning and equipping secret relocation centers. From these centers, picked government teams will direct simulated reconstruction and a mock war effort in the wake of an assumed nuclear attack on the United States.

Predicts Same Bill

Washington, July 2 (AP)—Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.) said today he believes the foreign aid bill will pass the House pretty much as approved by the House Foreign Affairs Committee. Hays, a senior committee Democrat, was sponsor of a surprise move in closed committee session yesterday which gave President Eisenhower a partial victory in his request for long-term aid authority. The House group then went on to approve, 22-6, a $3,242,333,000 foreign aid authorization bill for the new fiscal year. This is about 600 million dollars below what Eisenhower sought and 375 millions less than voted by the Senate.

Leon Randall, the new county golf kingpin, has set up shop as the No. 1 amateur in the area and it's going to take some doing to dispossess him.

The record breaking 277 which dominated the strong field by 11 strokes was major league stuff carved out of rounds of 75-68-65-69. It was glamorized by 19 birdies, including a string of six in a row. It also had a round of 65, second best in the history of the tournament.

Comfortably re-established in the community after a service stretch, Randall is target No. 1 for a small group of players who will dominate amateur golf in these parts for a long time to come. That would include, of course, George Hughes, the 3-time winner, Bill Van Aken, Harvey Bostic, John Burych, Alvin Boice and maybe a Mike Bruhn.

Randall travelled 72 holes with only one "6" on the card. His tee shots soared as if propelled on a trolley wire. He has the ideal golf temperament and disposition on top of which he is a thoroughly likeable young man, immensely popular with the golf galleries and opponents alike.

• The Nineteenth Hole:

Pre-tournament feeling was that if Hughes was tied or a stroke either way at the end of 36 holes, nobody would catch him at Twaalfskill or Woodstock, two courses he eats up. He was tied at 143 with Randall at the end of the qualifying round but was never able to mobilize his game for the one hot round everyone knew he could unload. The Sweet Swinger remains a brilliant golfer, however, and like we said a long time ago, the records show that the guy who beats George Hughes wins the Herdegen Memorial. Bill Van Aken emerged from the tournament with prestige intact. Considering the relatively few rounds he had played, the two-time champion made a remarkable showing. Harvey Bostic, Johnny Burych, Ronnie Marks and Ellenville's Carroll Schipp also emerged with strong credentials for the future.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Gene Sarazen once said he always played to win, but if he didn't, he never felt badly if he "broke 280." That is the line of distinction among the professionals, somewhat akin to the difference between an 89 and a 90 for the weekend duffer. Randall was the first to crack 280 in the Herdegen. . . . Overlooked in the shuffle was Alvin Boice's remarkable comeback from the disastrous 85 at Wiltwyck. The multi-titled Twaalfskill star bounced back with three nifty rounds of 70-72-70 for a 302 aggregate. Boice's role in the Herdegen is similar to Sam Snead's in the U. S. Open. He has been runnerup twice and time might be running out on him, but we hope he makes it in the near future. . . . Tournament luncheon served Sunday by Woodstock Country Club was superb. A tip of the hat to restaurateur Billy Waterous and his wife and their helpers for the splendid meal.

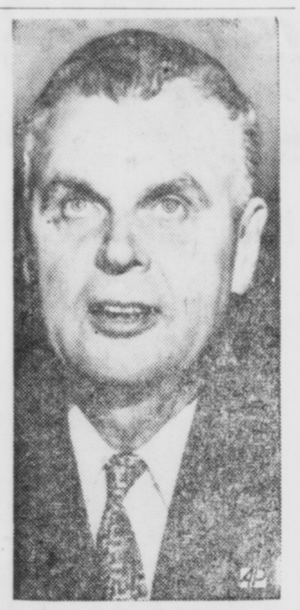
• Old Guard Passes On:

This might have been the last time around for three veteran stalwarts of the Herdegen competition—Roy Vogt, Lou Smith and Fred Allen. Roy announced his retirement after Sunday's round, but as one of the youngsters in the field put it: "He said that last year." Allen, the gregarious Woodstocker, also has been in a state of fluid retirement the past few years. Smith said he's had it, getting too old to keep up with the kids. . . . "Lonesome George" Cosenza's rooters from Wiltwyck presented him with a special prize. . . . Attendance for the finals was the largest in years and weather over the two weekends was the freakiest in years. The "tough" holes of the tournament were as rugged as ever—the No. 9 at Wiltwyck, No. 3 at Twaalfskill nd No. 7 at Shawangunk. . . . Course averages per round for the 24 finalists: Wiltwyck 80.95, Woodstock 75.25, Twaalfskill 76.66 and Shawangunk 76.37. Woodstock and Twaalfskill normally play within a half stroke of each other but strong winds ballooned some of the scores Saturday at Twaalfskill. . . . The No. 4 at Twaalfskill still is the easiest hole in the tournament. There were 16 birdies there with several near-miss eagles.

Six years ago George Hughes was in the left trap on the 72nd hole at Woodstock trying for a new course record. Sunday he was in that same trap for his 72nd hole but under somewhat altered circumstances. . . . The four tournament courses were in remarkable condition, beautifully groomed and with superb putting carpets. Pros Dave McMeekin, Alex Gerlak, Bleeker Bradford and J. Carson Hutchins deserve a salute for their splendid cooperation. Another successful tournament goes into the record book. Next year it could be bigger and better. Meanwhile, congratulations to the new champion, Leon Randall.

Woman to Oppose Stark

New York, July 2 (AP) — Mrs. Caroline K. Simon, former member of the State Commission Against Discrimination, is the choice of New York city Republican leaders as candidate for president of the city council. Mrs. Simon, a 54-year-old grandmother and Manhattan lawyer, is the first woman to be chosen by a major political party for election to a citywide office here. The GOP leaders of the city's five counties designated Mrs. Simon yesterday to oppose Abe Stark of Brooklyn, the Democratic incumbent.



NEW LEADER — John Diefenbaker, a Conservative, is the new prime minister of Canada. His party's victory in elections ended 22-year rule of the Liberal Party.

IBC Given Stay Until Nov. 1 on Monopoly Charge

New York, July 2 (AP)—Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan today gave boxing promoters James D. Norris and Arthur M. Wirtz of the International Boxing Club until Nov. 1 to start divesting themselves of their stock in the Madison Square Garden Corp., and to resign as officers.

The judge made final today injunctive procedures involving the promoters, Madison Square Garden Corp., and the IBC organization of New York and Illinois.

On March 8 the judge ruled Norris, Wirtz and the IBC were guilty of monopoly in the promotion of championship boxing bouts in the United States.

Recently he decreed that the IBC organizations in New York and Illinois must be dissolved, that Norris and Wirtz must sever all connections with the Madison Square Garden Corp., and must give up all exclusive contracts with boxing champions.

The stay until Nov. 1 was granted on motion of the defense attorney Kenneth C. Royall, to permit the defendants time to apply to the Supreme Court.

World News in Brief

Quakes Kill 60

Teharn, July 2 (AP) — Severe earthquakes hit towns and villages east and northeast of Tehran today and 60 persons were reported killed.

Reports reaching the Iranian capital said the series of shocks began early this morning in Demavend, popular summer resort 35 miles east of Tehran, Firuz Kuh, Polour Larijan, Amol, Babol and other villages.

Tehran itself felt a quake just before dawn. Although recorded as the most severe in the city within memory, it caused no casualties or serious damage.

More Havana Blasts

Havana, July 2 (AP) — Three more bomb explosions ripped through parts of Havana last night, causing extensive damage but no injuries.

Two of the blasts occurred in the center of the city and the third in a suburb. Two automobile agencies, a furniture store and a house were damaged.

A series of blasts erupted in Havana over the weekend in a stepup of the harassment of President Fulgencio Batista's government.

24 Safe on Plane

Karachi, July 2 (AP)—A missing Pakistan airliner was found in East Pakistan today with all 24 persons aboard safe.

A Pakistan air line spokesman said the DC3 had developed engine trouble yesterday after it left Chittagong airfield for Dacca and made a forced landing in a rice field. The pilot reported he could not establish radio contact to report his trouble until this morning.

'Flower Crew Feted

New York, July 2 (AP)—Capt. Allan Villiers and his doughty crew of the Mayflower II sail up Broadway today for the city's traditional ticker-tape greeting.

They'll board shiny cars for the cruise among the towers of lower Manhattan. Mayor Robert F. Wagner will pipe the crew ashore at city hall and present them with special citations.

The Mayflower II, meanwhile, bobbed quietly alongside a Hudson river pier. The respite will be brief.

Now-a simple guide tells you which grade of gasoline your car needs_ to give you all the power and mileage built into your engine without paying for octanes you don't need!

Today, you—like millions of other motorists—may be puzzled about the number of different grades of gasoline being sold—and trying to decide just which grade your car needs.

To clarify this situation, Socony Mobil engineers have developed a simple Mobilgas Grade Guide that quickly tells you whether your particular car needs our highest octane gasoline—Mobilgas Special—or Mobilgas R at regular price. You'll find this guide at your friendly Mobil dealer's—and reproduced here.

This year both our grades have been boosted again in octane. Mobilgas Special fully meets the power requirements of 1957 high-compression cars.

Mobilgas R today is equal in octane to the premium fuels of just a few years ago—can actually be used by 1 out of every 3 car owners now buying premium-priced gasoline!

Both grades contain MC$_4$ . . . an exclusive additive formula that improves engine efficiency and saves gasoline four ways!

We sincerely believe that if you follow this guide, you will get all the power and mileage built into your engine—without paying for gasoline octanes your car doesn't need. See your friendly Mobil dealer.
